23-year-old wrestler from Nahri village near Sonepat looks to better Sushil's silver at Tokyo

WRESTLING RAVI-LUTION CONTINUES

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

ALL that Ravi Dahiya knows is wrestling. His devotion towards the sport is like a hermit — unwavering. Soft-spoken, he hardly ventures outside the Chhatrasal Stadium. Practice and practice. All he had been yearning since the World Championships in 2019 is an Olympic medal. On Wednesday, he lived that dream and ensured a fourth successive medal in wrestling for India at the Games.

The dingy subterranean parking area converted into a training hall in the basement of Chhatrasal Stadium is his sacred space. Same space where double Olympic medallist Sushil Kumar used to train until his arrest recently. From now on the hallowed precincts of the Chhatrasal Stadium will have more than just one medallist — the shy and recluse Ravi. If his teammate Deepak Punia manages a medal in the bronze medal playoff on Thursday, it would be the third. Ravi is no fluke, either. He is seeded fourth in Tokyo and has been knocking on the doors of greatness. Those who know him speak highly of his technique and his steely resolve to not give up under any situation.

Take the semifinals against Nurislam Sanayev of Kazakhstan for example. Five-nine down, Ravi used one of the tricks that he learned at Chhatrasal to make a stupendous comeback. Locally it's called lakkad baggha (hyena) and in technical parlance it's spladle, a move considered difficult. As Ravi entered the final to secure India their fourth medal at the Tokyo 2020 Olympics, thousands of miles away, in Nahri, Haryana, his father watched his son grapple and rejoice in every victory as if he were there. Ravi's father Rakesh is so fond of his sons — Pankaj, the brother — that he has been travelling 35km from Nahri village near Sonepat to deliver milk, ghee and curd everyday for the past 14 years. The boy has grown and now he will be part of India's sporting folklore.

On Thursday, his final will be against second-seeded Zavur Uguev of Russian Olympic Committee, who has beaten Ravi earlier.

I have beaten Sanayev twice before, so I knew I can pull it off despite trailing by a huge margin. I was assured inside, but I should not have conceded lead and made it a close fight. That was pretty bad of me

NEERAJ TOPS QUALIFICATION

Neeraj Chopra became the first Indian javelin thrower to enter the finals of the Olympic Games with a stunning throw of 86.65m in his opening attempt that put him on top on Wednesday

DEEPAK, ANSHU IN MEDAL HUNT

Wrestler Deepak Punia (86kg) made it to the semifinals but lost the bout to the formidable American David Morris Taylor. He will now fight for bronze on Thursday. Anshu Malik will compete in the repechage round on Thursday and if she wins, she will also fight for bronze

LOVLINA ENDS WITH BRONZE

Boxing sensation Lovlina Borgohain (69kg) signed off with a bronze medal in her debut Olympic Games after a comprehensive 0-5 loss to the reigning world champion, Busenaz Surmeneli, on Wednesday

VINESH HANDED TOUGH DRAW

Medal favourite Vinesh Phogat (53kg) was handed a tough draw on Wednesday. The No. 1 seed wrestler in 53kg weight category will open her campaign against Rio Olympic bronze medallist Sofia Magdalena Mattsson of Sweden on Thursday morning

When vax door for kids opens, teens with comorbidities would get first entry

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

WHENEVER the Centre rolls out Covid-19 vaccination for children, adolescents with comorbidities will be the first to receive the jabs, officials told this newspaper. The National Expert Group on Vaccine Administration for Covid-19 (NEGVAC) has recommended that children aged 12-17 years with serious underlying conditions should be the first to get the vaccines, once the inoculation programme is open for children. However, the Union health ministry is yet to take a final call on the matter.

"Just like the Covid-19 vaccination for adults was opened for those above 45 years with specified comorbidities, the expert group has suggested inoculation first for adolescents above 12 with serious ailments as the risk of serious disease and death is higher in them compared with normal kids," a health ministry official said.

In a press briefing on Tuesday, NEGVAC co-chairman V K Paul had echoed the same sentiments: "Prioritising children with comorbidities would be scientifically appropriate and valid," he said in response to a query, adding that the decision on whether to prioritise certain children would be taken only after vaccines become available for children.

During a BJP parliamentary party meeting last month, Union health minister Mansukh Mandaviya had claimed vaccination for children would begin in August. As of now, no vaccine in India has regulatory approval for immunising children. Covaxin's clinical trial for children is still underway to assess its safety and immunogenicity. And Zydus Cadila's DNA-based vaccine, which had included kids between 12-17 years in its late-stage trials, is awaiting approval for restricted use authorisation.

Meanwhile, experts say the risk of severe disease and mortality is far lower among children compared with adults. Therefore, their vaccination should be considered only when vaccines effective in preventing transmission are available.

HIGH COMMAND PICKS 29 MINISTERS FOR BOMMAI

13 dists unrepresented; rabblerousers from both pro, anti-BSY camps not in list

ANUSHA RAVI @Bengaluru

IN the name of God, gurus, farmers, Bhuvaneshwari, Basavanna, people of constituencies and even 'Gau mata', 29 BJP legislators took oath as ministers in the Basavaraj Bommai cabinet on Wednesday.

The BJP Central leadership kept Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on the hook even as the clock was ticking for the oath-taking ceremony of new ministers, which was scheduled at 2.15 pm at the Raj Bhavan. The high command eventually decided to induct 29 ministers – three Dalits, one ST, seven OBCs, nine Lingayats including lone woman minister Shashikala Jolle, seven Vokkaligas and two Brahmins. Including Bommai, the cabinet will have 10 Lingayats in an attempt to cajole the community that was simmering over BS Yediyurappa's teary exit.

In all, 23 ministers from Yediyurappa's council have been retained, seven have been dropped, and six new faces have been inducted. Though the BJP and Sangh Parivar have been keen on keeping rabble-rousers like Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, CP Yogeeshwara, SR Vishwanath and MP Renukacharya away from the cabinet, contentious candidates like BY Vijayendra and Arvind Bellad too have been kept at bay for now. In an attempt to pacify the cadres, the Sangh Parivar has picked core BJP leaders rooted in the party.

While the party has also accommodated 'newcomers' -- who quit the JDS-Congress coalition government in 2019 and joined BJP to help the party come to power -- it has been careful to only accommodate leaders from constituencies that it otherwise has little or no foothold in.

Even as Bommai insisted that his cabinet will have equitable regional and caste representation, at least 13 districts, including Kodagu, Mysuru and Chikkamagaluru, have no ministers. Shashikala Jolle is the lone woman minister in the cabinet and the decision to induct her came at the last moment after the party decided to drop K Poornima from Hiriyur. While Yediyurappa had three Deputy Chief Ministers, Bommai will have none. On July 31, TNIE had reported that the party's central leadership was contemplating a 'No-DCM' formula for Karnataka since its intentions of having DCMs under Yediyurappa did not yield results.

While Yediyurappa is said to have recommended close to two dozen names, barely six made it to the cabinet. It took Bommai five days of camping in New Delhi and meeting central leaders to get the list of ministers approved.

Portfolio allocation is still pending and will be the next challenge for the party. The party has decided to keep four cabinet berths free to firefight any trouble that may arise out of the cabinet formation.

Lingayats, Vokkaligas dominate

More than half of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's 29-member ministry is represented by Lingayats and Vokkaligas, who are the two dominant communities in the State. The ministry has nine Lingayats and seven Vokkaligas. Also, though there are ministers from North Karnataka, 13 of 31 districts don't have any representation. Portfolios to take 2 days

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai allocated districts to his ministerial colleagues immediately after the swearing-in on Wednesday to allow them to head back and tackle the flood and Covid situation. But the allocation of portfolios for the new ministers is likely to take another two days, said party sources. Many ministers have got the districts that they were in charge of previously to ensure continuity | P4

'I swear'... again

Navalgund MLA Shankar Patil Munenakoppa had to take the oath twice on Wednesday. During the swearing-in at Raj Bhavan in the afternoon, instead of taking the oath of office and secrecy separately, he had taken the oath of office twice. He was called to the Raj Bhavan again in the evening and made to take the oath of secrecy before Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot and the Chief Secretary.

Police crack adoption racket in Mysuru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

CONSTANT warnings of NGOs and child rights activists that Mysuru is turning into a hub of illegal child adoption and trafficking rackets have come true with the Mysuru and Nanjangud police unearthing an illegal sale of a baby to a childless couple. Worryingly, a private hospital too is involved in creating false documents showing the couple who adopted the baby as its biological parents, the police said.

The Nanjangud police started the probe into the case after an alert from an Anganwadi worker and a complaint by the Child Development Project Officer. A special team, formed to crack the case, identified Srimathi alias Saraswathi (60) as the kingpin who was helped by her daughter Lakshmi. Both have been arrested.

The police found that the mother-daughter duo had managed to convince a woman, Jyothi, to give up her child for adoption illegally and sold the baby to a childless couple in Holenarasipur for Rs 4 lakh.

Srimathi had struck the deal with Jyothi when she was pregnant and took her to a private hospital in Mysuru where she underwent a caesarean section. The hospital helped in creating the documents of the child that mentioned the couple who paid the money as its biological parents.

"The accused targeted women who were financially poor and convinced them to give away their children. We are continuing with the investigation and have formed another team to arrest others involved in the racket," said Mysuru Superintendent of Police R Chethan.

3 Belagavi footballers make it to Indian team

SUNIL PATIL @Belagavi

IT is a proud moment for Belagavi as three budding women football players from the city have made it to the Indian side for the Mini Football Women's World Cup-2021, which will be held in Ukraine this month.

Anjali Hindalgekar, Aditi Jadhav and Priyanka Kangralkar are all degree students studying in different colleges. Apart from them, Vibha and Sanjana from Bengaluru too have made it to the national team. With this, Karnataka has a lion's share five players in the 11-member Indian side.

All of them have attended a special training camp for eight days in Bengaluru in the last week of July.

Anjali, Aditi and Priyanka practice with the Belgaum United Football Academy and are coached by Matin Inamdar.

They were picked for the national side after Super Division league matches held in Bengaluru recently. They will head to Hyderabad from Belagavi on August 6 and from there they will leave for Delhi to join the Indian team before heading for Ukraine.

Anjali Hindalgekar, a BCom student at KLE's Lingaraj College in Belagavi, said, "I am excited to be part of the Indian team. Congratulatory messages have poured in after my selection. I hope to do well in my debut International event and all of us will make Belagavi proud."

Aditi Jadhav is a BA student in the same college, while Priyanka Kangralkar studies BCom at Mangalore University.

The Under-23 Mini Football Women's World Cup-2021 is a seven-a-side tournament that is being held from August 11 to 16 at Kiev in Ukraine.

Airport Metro line tender to be finalised in Sept

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

WHILE scrutiny of technical bids for the KR Puram-Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) line is on the verge of completion, financial bids are set to be opened soon. The tender for this crucial line is to be awarded in early September, says Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) Managing Director Anjum Parvez.

In an exclusive interaction with The New Indian Express, his first after assuming charge here, Parvez spoke on a host of issues related to projects, impact of the Covid pandemic on BMRCL, and lessons learnt from Metro Phase-I.

Without divulging specifics on bidders for the 38.44-km KR Puram-KIA line, he said, "The technical bids are on the verge of being finalised, and may be done in 10 days. We'll take up the financial bids after that. Within a month, say in early September, we expect the process to be complete."

The deadline for opening of tenders was extended many times due to the pandemic, and bidding was finally closed on June 29.

A new contractor, G R Infraprojects Limited, was awarded the tender for the 21.25-km Pink Line from Kalena Agrahara (Gottigere) on Bannerghatta Road. Work on the elevated portion (7.5 km) had ground to a halt after the previous contractor, Simplex Infrastructures Ltd, stopped work due to financial problems, and BMRCL terminated the contract worth Rs 339 crore.

The MD said, "The previous contractor had completed 37 per cent of the line, and G R Infra Projects will complete the remainder. We will be recovering dues for violation of contract conditions from Simplex, from the deposit money paid to us."

Referring to Phase-II projects, he said BMRCL was keen on ensuring good bus connectivity from all Metro stations. "We are working on installing a Foot Over Bridge that would ensure easy access between the Metro and KSRTC and BMTC," he said. The pre-Covid workforce had returned and projects are on schedule, he added.

Unlike pre-Covid times when ridership was between 4.5 lakh and 5 lakh a day, and revenue above Rs 1.2 crore, BMRCL was able to recover only 30 per cent of its operation cost, Parvez said. "If the Covid situation improves, we hope to recover 60-70 per cent of our operational costs within three months." BMRCL was also keen on mobilising revenue by permitting advertisements in Metro stations and allowing shops in the space available, Parvez said.

Wide double road has now turned into a narrow lane for two-way traffic, complain motorists

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

COMMUTERS passing through MLAs' Layout in RT Nagar are facing a harrowing time ever since Basavaraj Bommai became chief minister. The traffic police have blocked the road on the side of his residence, while turning the other half into a two-way stretch, inconveniencing motorists.

The traffic police put up barricades on the day Bommai was sworn in as chief minister. What was once a wide road has now turned into a narrow lane for two-way traffic, complain vehicle-users.

On Wednesday morning, two cars almost collided head-on and the drivers left after a heated exchange of words. Such incidents have become common on the road, which is a major connecting stretch between RT Nagar and Mekhri Circle.

"Earlier it used to be a moderately busy road, but since the police blocked one side of the road, the movement of vehicles has been hit badly," said a resident, who did not want to be named. When Bommai was the home minister, there was a small police picket, which did not affect people much. But with his elevation, higher levels of security measures have been implemented. The residents complain that a steady flow of politicians and officials to the chief minister's residence, and haphazard parking of vehicles have been affecting them.

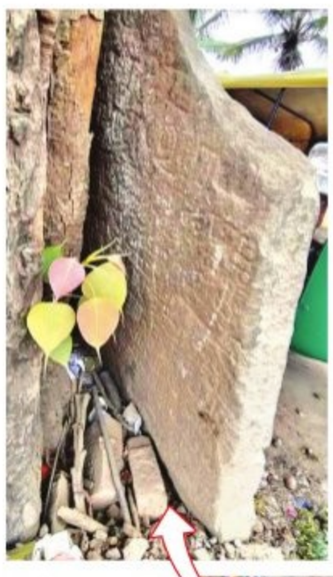
The jurisdictional RT Nagar traffic police said the road has been barricaded as part of the chief minister's security protocol. "We cannot decide on this matter as decisions are made at the top," an officer said.

13th-century inscription stone lies neglected on Doddanekundi roadside

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WHILE the government is actively working on establishing new museums and restoring heritage sites under Mission 2022, a 13th century stone, with inscriptions on both sides, lies ignored in Doddanekundi.

Locals and heritage enthusiasts have been striving for the last eight years to protect the stone, but nothing has happened so far. Agitated over the neglect, they have taken to social media to voice their wrath.



The inscription stone belonging to the Hoysala dynasty has the name Neerakundi inscripted on it, the original name of Doddanekundi.

"Belonging to the Hoysala dynasty, the stone has the name Neerakundi inscripted on it, the original name of Doddanekundi. This clearly shows that the area existed even then. The details of the same can also be found in Epigraphia Carnatica, Bengaluru volume," said Swaminathan Natarajan, archaeology and heritage enthusiast and resident of the area.

The locals pointed out that the stone was initially in the middle of the road, and during some civil works, the authorities moved it to the side. Now, a portion of it is under cement. Also, people stick advertisements and posters on the stone.

"The inscriptions have started to wither off. We have been requesting the BBMP, archaeological department and the deputy commissioner to protect and shift it to the museum. But nothing has been done. The stone has been lying unprotected and abandoned," said another local.

Director of the Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage, R Gopal said that some funds have been reserved for restoration of archaeological sites, but this stone is not a part of it.

Kavyashree, Deputy Director, Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage, had earlier visited the site in 2018 and again a month and half back.

"A temple is being constructed in the vicinity and we had earlier requested them to accommodate the stone in their premises. But they refused to do so. Now, another temple is coming up and we are requesting them to house it in their premises. We cannot shift it to the museum because of space constraints. Besides, since the stone speaks of the history of that place, we are keen to keep it in Doddanekundi itself," she said.

Prohibitory orders to continue till August 16

BENGALURU: Police Commissioner Kamal Pant has issued directions extending prohibitory orders in the city till the midnight of August 16. As per the order, the assembly of more than four people in public places, barring bus stands, Metro/railway stations, and airport, is prohibited. However, an exemption has been given for a particular purpose or where already a number of persons have been specified by the government. Also, night curfew will be in force in the city from 10 pm to 5 am. Though the orders came into force from 6 am on Monday, the order was released to the media minutes after the swearing-in ceremony of new ministers at Raj Bhavan, where a large number of their supporters had gathered, on Wednesday.

Construction delayed at KG Layout due to 'theft' of materials

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WHILE the sites at the Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout (NPKL) are supposed to be handed over to allottees in another five months, work seems to be moving at a snail's pace, apparently due to the theft of construction materials.

Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) officials in the progress report told the allottees that the reason for the delay is the theft of raw materials like wires, cement blocks and other items. They are also asking them to start moving in, so that the items are safe guarded and work can be completed within the stipulated time.

As per RERA guidelines, the BDA has to complete the work on the layout and hand it over to allottees in five months. But the progress reports shows the execution of works under two packages by three separate companies is below par. Under Package-1 (executed by L&T constructions), 66 per cent of utility duct creation has been completed and under package-2 (being executed by SPML and ACL) 45 per cent has been executed.

Also, 43 per cent UGD and 23 per cent fresh water lines have been laid under Phase-1 and 34 per cent and nine per cent, respectively, in the second phase. "Under each phase, 5,000 sites are to be created. We paid the full amount five years ago and we are still waiting for the sites. They should have installed CCTV cameras and deployed security guards to man the area. It is very clear that BDA is once again postponing the execution of the project, not realising the rising cost," Sham Jujare S, allottee and member of NPKL Progressive Front.

A senior BDA official, seeking anonymity, explained, "We have been trying to finish the layout for 10 years. Apart from dealing with the issue of offering adequate compensation for land acquisition, the Covid-induced lockdown and the theft of raw materials is delaying it. There is no dearth of funds to complete the works. Once water and UGD pipelines are laid, we can lay the roads. We are requesting the citizens to stay in the layout, so that we can complete the works parallelly, but they are not agreeing to it."

05th August: More far-out news from the world of science. I mentioned yesterday the theory that atoms in our brains and bodies are permanently linked to atoms on other planets. Just in case you think I'm mad, this theory is known as 'quantum entanglement' and, within a few years, your home computer will be operating on this very principle.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)
The past few weeks seem to have been exhausting, but perhaps more because you've been putting your energy in the wrong direction than as a result of any real increase in your duties. However, you always have to bear in mind that it's very important to learn from your mistakes.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)
You are bound to receive a great deal of help from behind the scenes, even if you don't know what's happening. The fact is that you will not be aware of the nature or existence of such discreet assistance until next week - or even next year! There's no hurry!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There is a chance of a fresh start at work within a few days. The opportunity is slight, to be sure, but if you make the right moves now, events should eventually work out in your favour. Socially, the outlook is still bright, though not outstanding!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Perhaps you need to set an example - and maybe you should take the initiative. You may still have to be discreet in your usual manner, but you must raise various issues for discussion. Deal with joint finances today, and remember that property deals are strongly signified.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Don't give up or give in to feelings of inadequacy. Other people may try to undermine you, or, at least, that is how it seems. Perhaps you would do best to try to see the grain of truth in all criticism, rather than closing your ears to uncomfortable suggestions.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There's no escape from hard work today. Even social and pleasurable pursuits could require extra effort. However, those of you who pulled your weight yesterday, and the day before, will soon find that you have spare time for socialising and indulging your favourite whims.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Various celestial challenges are on their way. It seems that other people have made unfair emotional demands in the immediate past, but very soon you'll be able to understand their motives, and that should give you ample cause for celebration.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Planetary activity in the realms of your chart relating to work and money should have brought suitable remuneration for your efforts. Each and every event in your romantic life is to be treasured, by the way, no matter how small. And aside from that, you may press on with practical matters as fast as you can.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Do try to finalise any major issues now. Mars has been stirring you up for so long, that you may have become used to its slightly aggressive energies, but you should realise that you have only a few more weeks during which it will be so easy to get your own way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You can put the record straight and prove just how eager, caring and kind you really are. Don't panic - you won't actually have to do anything. Others should be content in the knowledge that, where you're concerned, it's the thought that counts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The cosmos is a wild place, but you have survived pretty well so far. Today is a suitable time to re-orientate yourself and lower your emotional armour, taking a peep at the world around you. You never know - you may like what you see. You might even spot a prospective new partner.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There has been a spot of muddle recently, but the position should soon improve quite drastically. I'm not saying that there won't be any further confusion, but at least you'll be responsible for your own success or failure. That means you'll be able to take all the necessary steps.

A health worker collects swab samples of a passenger at Krantivira Sangolli Rayanna railway station in Bengaluru on Wednesday | SHRIRAM BN

Serosurvey begins in B'luru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN the backdrop of rising Covid cases and increase in the number of containment zones, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) on Wednesday kicked off a serosurvey in the city, which will be completed within a week. The survey was launched from the Ulsoor Referral Hospital by BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta.

Samples will be taken from areas where Covid clusters are on the rise as well as from where there are no clusters. Experts from the BBMP advisory committee said that the list of people to be surveyed in every BBMP zone is ready.

According to the BBMP, 2,000 people will be surveyed, of which 30 per cent will be under 18 years of age, 50 per cent above 18 years and 20 per cent above 45 years of age. Blood samples of 1,000 vaccinated individuals and 1,000 non-vaccinated individuals will be collected to determine the level of antibodies present. Blood serum and throat swab samples will also be collected from individuals identified through a door-to-door survey.

The survey will be conducted by teams from the primary healthcare centres in the city and coordinated by infectious diseases experts and health officials of the zones, the BBMP chief said.

The serosurvey is being conducted to gauge the infection resistance and severity of the spread of the virus and its variants, BBMP health officials said. It will give an idea about how many people have and have not been infected, and how many have enough antibodies to fight the virus. Based on the survey report, further rules will be laid out on what needs to be done to control the spread of the virus and the steps to be taken in future, Gupta said.

Arsenal to take on 3rd wave: Vax data, microplanning, seroprevalence

Experts say each area will face different risk levels as factors differ; policy needs to be tailored

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

AS Karnataka shifts to war mode to mitigate the third wave and rise in Covid-19 infections, experts who are also part of the Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) say that each area will face a different risk, and the battle has to be fought with microplanning, using data from seroprevalence and vaccination coverage.

"Not every area will have the same risk. The battle against multiple waves has to be fought using data from seroprevalence and vaccination coverage," said Dr Giridhara R Babu, renowned epidemiologist and member of TAC. On Twitter, Dr Babu listed out four possibilities. "Possibility A: low vaccination coverage and low seroprevalence, B: low vaccination coverage with high seroprevalence C: High vaccination coverage and low seroprevalence and D: high vaccination coverage and high seroprevalence."

He said, "We can assess areas based on the matrix of vaccination coverage and seroprevalence, and can understand four different possibilities. Areas with lower seroprevalence and vaccination coverage are the most vulnerable, not only for rise in cases but also increased hospitalisation and deaths. These areas are of highest priority for saving lives. All of society requires to focus and strengthen efforts in these areas. Areas with high vaccination coverage will have the advantage of relatively low mortality and hospitalisation," he added.

Experts say it is now evident that the SARS-CoV-2 is behaving differently in each pocket of the state, so one policy for all may not work in mitigating infections. Each district and city should have micro containment zones, and also factor in seropositivity. "A lot of work needs to be done beforehand in terms of microplanning. We need to look at districts with low seroprevalence, districts with high prevalence but low vaccination coverage, and districts with low seropositivity and low vaccination coverage. They will be the most vulnerable, and the population has to be vaccinated to ensure it is free from risk of mortality and hospitalisation," said Dr Manjunath, Director, Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Diseases.

He also warned that at no cost should the state government slow down testing. The key to identify cases is testing.

Meanwhile, doctors also said the positivity rate in the state is increasing slowly, and one must keep a watch on this at the district level. "Positivity rates vary in each district. We must also watch positivity rates and ensure we increase testing, vaccination, and have more containment zones as soon as cases are reported. If we allow clusters to form, it won't take long for us to see the third wave," another expert opined.

Fresh Covid curbs in Kukke, Kateel, Dharmasthala temples

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

FOLLOWING the rise in Covid-19 cases, the Dakshina Kannada district administration has issued fresh guidelines for temples across the district till August 15.

Deputy Commissioner Dr Rajendra K V, in his order on Wednesday, said that Shri Durgaparameshwari Temple Kateel, Shri Kshetra Dharmasthala and Kukke Subramanya Temple, will be open for devotees between 7 am to 7 pm only. According to him, "Devotees must follow social distancing and other guidelines. Theertha Prasada, Prasada and Annasantarpana, will not be available for the devotees. Temples will remain closed during the weekends (Saturday and Sunday) and devotees will not be allowed to stay in guest houses or offer prayers at temples."

Further, the new guidelines state that only temple priests will be allowed to offer daily puja during the weekends.

"Devotees who want to stay at guesthouses on days other than weekends, need to compulsorily produce a negative RTPCR report not older than 72 hours," said DC in the order.

To ensure social distancing, no additional people will be allowed to stay in the guesthouses. Meanwhile, the deputy commissioner has directed the authorities to sanitize guesthouses and temples. The guidelines also mention that it is mandatory for the devotees to wear masks.

COVID BYTES

New guidelines for next two weeks in Shivamogga

SHIVAMOGGA: The Shivamogga district administration has issued strictures to allow only 50 members for weddings, a mandatory negative RT-PCR report for people entering the district from other states and for tourists who wish to visit tourist places in the district. To contain the spread of the third wave of Covid-19, the new guidelines will be in force from August 5 to 15, On Wednesday, Deputy Commissioner K B Sivakumar stated that under the Disaster Management Act 2005, precautionary measures were taken to prevent the spread of the third wave of Covid-19 in the district. He stated that the tourists need to have a negative RT-PCR report not older than 72 hours to enter the district from other states via buses or own vehicles - despite being vaccinated with two doses. Religious centres, tourist spots shut in Koppal

KOPPAL : With the Covid third wave scare, the Koppal district administration has decided to stop mass prayers in religious centres and tourist spots for 15 days (August 2 to 17) as a precautionary measure. These include the historical Anjaneya and Huligemma Devi temples, besides Tungabhadra reservoir surroundings. While processions and other public gatherings have also been restricted, marriages can be held with permission from respective tahsildars, with a cap of 40 people. Covid norms will be strictly enforced at government programmes and meetings of officials, said Deputy Commissioner S Vikas Kishore. As experts warn about a possible third wave targeting children, a drive has been launched to carry out a health check-up of those below 18 years of age. ENS

B'LURU GETS CHUNK OF CABINET PIE

Seven of 29 ministers are from the city; decision prompted by Palike elections and 2023 Assembly polls

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

A week after assuming charge as Chief Minister of Karnataka, Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday expanded his Cabinet by inducting 29 ministers. Like his predecessor B S Yediyurappa, Bommai too has given a lion's share in his ministry to BJP legislators from Bengaluru. Of the 29 ministers, almost 25 per cent (7 ministers) are from Bengaluru.

According to political pundits, the Assembly elections in 2023 and the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) polls early next year seem to have prompted the BJP to give Bengaluru a big piece of the power pie. Interestingly, the BJP has chosen more turncoats — those who quit the JDS and Congress in 2019 and helped the saffron party form the government — than BJP old-timers from Bengaluru.

While old-timers Dr C N Ashwath Narayan (Malleswaram), R Ashoka (Padmanabhanagar) and V Somanna (Govindarajanagar) have made it to the Cabinet, turncoat legislators S T Somashekar (Yeshwanthpur), Byrathi Basavaraj (K R Puram), K Gopalaiah (Mahalakshmi Layout) and Munirathna (RR Nagar) have also made the cut. Of the seven ministers, only Muniratna is a new face in the Cabinet. Interestingly, S Suresh Kumar (Rajajinagar) and Aravind Limbavali (Mahadevapura) from the previous cabinet have been dropped.

In 2008, the BJP had 17 MLAs from Bengaluru. The number, however, fell to 12 in 2013 and further to 11 in 2018. However, after several MLAs from the JDS-Congress combine joined the BJP and won the bypolls in 2019, the number rose to 14. This further increased to 15 after Munirathna won the RR Nagar bypoll in 2020.

Speaking to TNIE, a BJP insider said that though the party high command was keen on making more legislators from outside Bengaluru as ministers, Bommai batted for city legislators keeping the BBMP polls in mind. "Generally, the BBMP election is won by the ruling party. It is a challenging task for Bommai to retain power in the civic body. This could also be a reason for him in accommodating seven Bengaluru MLAs in his Cabinet," the source added.

There were also murmurs of Basavanagudi MLA Ravi Subramanaya replacing Suresh Kumar.

Now, a major challenge before Bommai is the allocation of the much-sought-after Bengaluru Development portfolio. Yediyurappa had kept the portfolio to himself as there were many aspirants. Bommai too is likely to face a similar situation with Ashoka, Ashwath Narayan and Somashekar in the race.

FACTORS AT PLAY

NEW FACES 06

Sunil Kumar (BA): Karkala MLA, is rooted in the Sangh and is currently BJP chief whip

Araga Jnanendra (BCom): Thirthahalli MLA, considered BSY loyalist; Last time, he was made Housing Board chairman as he didn't get a cabinet berth

Munirathna (SSLC): The RR Nagar MLA was among the 17 who quit the JDS-Cong govt

Halappa Achar (BSc): Yelburga MLA gets push as reward for loyalists

Shankar Patil Munenkoppa (under graduate): Navalgunda MLA was picked as reward for party and ideological loyalty

B C Nagesh (BE): Tiptur MLA is a community replacement for Suresh Kumar; case believed to be pushed by BJP national general secretary (organisation) B L Santhosh

THOSE WHO MISSED THE BUS 07

Jagadish Shettar: Withdrew from contention after a videowent viral suggesting that he would be dropped

Suresh Kumar: Senior leader from the Brahmin community, he was dropped to reduce representation from Bengaluru

13 dists unrepresented in Bommai's ministry

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai now heads a Cabinet, half of which are Lingayat (10) and Vokkaliga (7) legislators. A Lingayat himself, Bommai has inducted nine Lingayats (10 including himself), seven Vokkaligas, seven OBCs, three SCs, two Brahmins, and one ST.

While seven ministers are from Bengaluru, 13 districts — Chamarajanagar, Kodagu, Vijayapura, Ballari, Davanagere, Hassan, Ramanagara, Kolar, Chikkamagaluru, Mysuru, Raichur, Yadgir and Kalaburagi — are unrepresented in the cabinet.

Bommai's Cabinet is similar to B S Yediyurappa's ministry in terms of caste-regional imbalance. While Yediyurappa's Cabinet had eight ministers from Bengaluru, the new Cabinet has seven. While there were seven Vokkaligas in the previous ministry, there are nine now. Also, there are two Brahmins in the Bommai Cabinet similar to that of his predecessor's team. During Yediyurappa's tenure, 14 districts did not have representation in the cabinet. Nippani MLA Shashikala Jolle is the only woman to have found a place in both the cabinets.

Speaking to TNIE, a senior BJP leader said that when the high command wanted to replace Yediyurappa, a Lingayat strongman, there was apprehension in the party of losing Lingayat votes. However, the top brass played its cards smartly by making Bommai, also a Lingayat and a close aide of Yediyurappa, the CM. The party also inducted eight more Lingayats as ministers, thus trying to safeguard its vote bank.

With seven Vokkaligas as ministers, the BJP has largely kept them happy too.

Jarkiholis don't find place in cabinet for first time in 17 years

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

FOR the first time in 17 years, no member from the influential Jarkiholi family of Gokak figures in the state Cabinet. Since 2004, at least one of the Jarkiholi borthers has been made a minister in successive State Governments.

However, the BJP government headed by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has broken this tradition

The Jarkiholis have been able to scale dizzy heights ever since MLAs Satish, Ramesh and Balachandra entered electoral politics. Ramesh and Balachandra have won six Assembly elections in a row from Gokak and Arabhavi, respectively, while Satish won twice as MLC before he won the last three elections straight to the Assembly from Yamakanmardi.Ramesh resigned as water resources minister in the Yediyurappa Cabinet after the CD scandal earlier this year. The BJP top brass, however, has assured the Jarkiholis of reinducting Ramesh once he gets a clean chit in the CD case.

POLITICAL THEATRE

In the name of 'Gaumata'

Prabhu Chauhan took oath in the name of "Gaumata". The Anti-cow Slaughter Bill was passed when he was the animal husbandry minister in the BSY government. Chauhan is keen on getting the same portfolio.

Anand Singh takes Lord Virupaksha's name

Vijayanagar MLA Anand Singh took oath in the name of "Pampa Virupaksha" of Vijayanagara and Mother Bhuvaneshwari. He was among the leaders who had demanded the formation of Vijayanagara district.

No complaint, no egg on face

Social media went berserk with jokes about minister Shashikala Jolle saying Belagavi has two ministers — Katti and Thatti (meaning egg in Kannada)— considering she was embroiled in a corruption controversy over eggs. When the media asked Bommai about Jolle and the egg scam, he simply said that there was no complaint against her. Probed further about Jolle getting a zero-traffic corridor from Airport to Raj Bhavan when she dashed from Delhi to Bengaluru, he said, "I am not aware of it."

MLAs upset, supporters take to streets

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

WEDNESDAY was a day for celebration for some MLAs and their followers, and a day of protest for others. In a display of anger over their leaders' exclusion from the cabinet, supporters of MLAs Raju Gowda, Aravind Bellad, Nehru Olekar and Poornima Sreenivas hit the streets, expressing displeasure.

Hiriyur MLA Poornima Sreenivas was openly critical, "Tainted leaders have been reinducted, like Shashikala Jolle, despite a sting operation and allegations of corruption against her." She said about 35-40 lakh Golla community members have no representation in the cabinet, despite supporting the BJP.

The anger also stems from the fact that some ministers are facing cases, like Murugesh Nirani, while Jolle is embroiled in a scam.

Honalli MLA MP Renukacharya said he had dissuaded his supporters from protesting. "I have not lobbied for a berth, nor will I lobby for it in future."

Six-time Chitradurga MLA Thippa Reddy said he was "disgusted" and told his supporters not to protest. His grouse was that while many second or third-time MLAs are in the cabinet, a senior with 52 years in politics has been left out.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

Former Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's strident critics - C P Yogeeshwara, Basangouda Patil Yatnal and Aravind Bellad - as well as his loyalist M P Renukacharya, have been kept out of the Bommai Cabinet.

Sources said that by doing so, the party has sent out a clear message that it will not tolerate legislators putting the party and the government in embarrassing situations by openly speaking against the government, the leadership or publicly criticising each other. "If those who spoke against Yediyurappa were made ministers, it would have encouraged others to speak against Bommai. At the same time, it would have sent out a wrong message that leaders who criticised each other in public were rewarded," the sources pointed out.

While Yatnal was among the most vocal critics of Yediyurappa, Yogeeshwara and Bellad had made several trips to Delhi to meet the party top brass.

Yogeeshwara, who was a minister under Yediyurappa, had openly criticised the latter. Many MLAs, including Renukacharya, had demanded action against Yogeeshwara. Amid all the talk of leadership change in the state, Renukacharya had claimed that he had a letter signed by a majority of BJP MLAs in support of Yediyurappa. In fact, Yediyurappa had asked his party MLAs not to indulge in signature campaigns or issue statements.

Meanwhile, Bellad's name was also doing the rounds for the CM's post. Sources said Yediyurappa strongly opposed any move to induct Yogeeshwara and Yatnal into the new Cabinet as that would amount to rewarding indiscipline in the party. "The party has sent out a clear message that it will not tolerate any indiscipline, either anti- or pro-Yediyurappa," sources said.

First cabinet meet gives nod for ST secretariat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

HOURS after the new ministers were sworn in, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai got down to business allocating districts to his cabinet colleagues in the light of the recent flooding and the prevailing Covid-19 situation. However, ministerial portfolios will be allotted in about two days' time. Bommai also said that the task force on Covid-19 will be reconstituted after the portfolios are allotted.

Asked about the delay in allocation of portfolios, Bommai remarked, "In some states, it takes longer, even months. But I went to Delhi and got approval for the cabinet formation in two days." The CM maintained that the allocation of portfolios among his ministers will be his own decision.

The first meeting of the full-fledged Bommai Cabinet on Wednesday also ratified a decision to set up a separate secretariat to oversee the welfare of Scheduled Tribes and effectively implement all projects and programmes.

Reacting to this, Minister B Sriramulu told TNIE, "It was Bharat Ratna Atal Bihari Vajpayee, who set a precedent by establishing an exclusive secretariat for the welfare of Schedule Tribes. It was for the first time that an exclusive Secretariat for ST welfare had been set up. Further, this tradition, with a special focus and emphasis on overall development of the community is being carried forward by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. We, in Karnataka, have followed in their footsteps and our Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai made a historic announcement on establishing an exclusive secretariat for the Welfare of STs, which will go a long way in effective planning, monitoring and implementation of initiatives under the Tribal Sub-Plan and overall development of the community in the state. I thank our immediate past CM B S Yediyurappa, who had taken up our request on priority."

The cabinet also decided that a committee, chaired by the CM, will oversee all programmes that come under the Women and Child Development Department, for better coordination as the schemes now come under different departments.

Many ministers have been allotted districts that they were previously in charge of, presumably to ensure continuity. The CM said it has been done so that the ministers can take charge immediately on Thursday and head to the districts to deal with the twin challenges of floods and Covid-19.

AUTO DRIVER MURDERED BY WIFE, FRIEND

MAN'S BODY FOUND IN DRAIN

A 38-year-old autorickshaw driver was found dead in a drain in Prakash Nagar in Sriramapura police station limits, on Wednesday morning. Police suspect that Vinod Kumar, a resident of Vidyaranyapura, might have accidently fallen into the drain at night and died as he suffered from epilepsy and was also addicted to alcohol. Kumar used to stay at Prakash Nagar earlier and had shifted to Vidyaranyapura a few years ago. However, he used to spend time in Prakash Kumar and sleep in his vehicle there at nights. "On Wednesday morning, passersby noticed his body in the drain and alerted the police. We are waiting for the autopsy report to know the exact cause of death," the police said.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE KG Nagar police have cracked a case in which an autorickshaw driver was allegedly murdered by his wife and his friend, who were reportedly in an illicit relationship. The friend and his cousin have been arrested.

The accused have been identified as Sanju MS (28), who hails from KR Pet in Mandya, and his cousin Subramanya RR (20), a resident of Ramanathapura in Arakalgud taluk of Hassan district. The victim's wife Ranjitha (24) is absconding, and the police are looking for her. The deceased, Karthik KV (25), hailed from Maddur taluk, and was residing in Brundavana Nagar near Srinagar.

Ranjitha and her husband Karthik KV

Police said that Karthik and Ranjitha got married in 2016. His close friend, Sanju, also an auto driver, was living with the couple in their house. Karthik and Sanju rode the same vehicle, with Karthik usually doing night shifts.

On the evening of July 29, he left home and did not return. His wife lodged a missing person's complaint with the KG Nagar police on August 1.

"The investigation revealed that Karthik was murdered by Ranjitha, Sanju, and his cousin. Sanju and Subramanya were subsequently arrested, while Ranjitha fled. It is also found that Sanju and Ranjitha had an affair and plotted to eliminate Karthik so that they could continue with their relationship. Sanju roped in his cousin for the job and took Karthik to Channapatna by saying there was a party. The cousins murdered Karthik the same night by hitting him with a jack rod, and then stabbing him, and smashing his head with a boulder. They packed the body into a gunny bag and dumped it in the bushes at an isolated area between Rajarajeshwari Medical College and Doddabele Road. The body was recovered and handed over to the family after an autopsy," the police added.

Bizman cheated of ₹1 crore by accountant

Bengaluru: A businessman, who runs an interior designing firm, has been allegedly cheated by his accountant of over Rs 1 crore. Shivanne Gowda, a resident of Konanakunte, has lodged a complaint with the Jayanagar police, stating that his accountant Anil Kumar siphoned off over Rs 1 crore since 2019. Police said that Gowda learnt about the cheating recently when a newly appointed manager verified the accounts and brought to his notice. "The manager had found discrepancies in three entries regarding payments and had brought it Gowda's notice. When the latter confronted the accountant, he reportedly confessed to cheating Gowda and promised to return the money," the police said. But Kumar stopped answering Gowda's calls.

Bengaluru aiport staffer robbed of phone, cash

Bengaluru: An airport staffer was robbed of his mobile phone and debit card, and also ended up losing Rs 72,600. Rajiv Ranjan Kumar Singh, who works at Kempegowda International Airport, was in Delhi. On July 31, he was boarding a train at Hazrath Nizamuddin railway station in Delhi to Bengaluru, when he was robbed of his mobile phone and a debit card. "As the train passed, he could not report about the theft to the police nor the bank. His phone had net banking apps. The accused withdrew cash and online transfers to the tune of Rs 72,600. Singh filed a complaint with the Bengaluru City Railway police and the case has been transferred to Hazrat Nizamuddin Railway Police for further investigation based on the place of offence," an official said.

Create proper system to address monkey menace, HC tells State

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

OBSERVING that monkeys could be harmed if caught and relocated by private individuals, in turn attracting provisions of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday directed the State Government to file an affidavit setting out a procedure and creating a machinery to receive complaints regarding the monkey menace, and scientific rescue of the animals, without causing them harm during relocation.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice NS Sanjay Gowda passed the order after hearing a PIL by advocate BS Radhanandan with regard to the monkey menace in the city. This order gains significance in view of the unnatural death of 38 monkeys in Hassan district recently, which is being dealt by the court through suo moto PIL. On this issue, the government stated that it is awaiting the FSL report to know the exact cause of death, besides mentioning about arresting the accused.

After perusing the minutes of a meeting held by the BBMP, which also mentioned about a helpline (080-22221122) to receive complaints about sick and injured monkeys, the court noted that the minutes were slightly vague, since they did not provide for proper procedure, including a machinery adopted to receive complaints regarding monkey menace.

"We direct the State Government to convene a meeting in the presence of Chief Wildlife Warden of Forest Department and BBMP to lay down the procedure. After laying down the same, the appropriate officer of the government should file an affidavit setting out the procedure by August 28, 2021," the court said, while adjourning the hearing to September 3, 2021.

It was stated in the proceedings of the meeting, which was chaired by the CM, that the BBMP received 56 complaints during 2018-21.

NIA ARRESTS 4 IN B'LURU, M'LURU, KASHMIR FOR ALLEGED ISIS LINKS

Raids house of ex-MLA's son for suspected ties with the terror organisation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru/Mangaluru

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) along with state police units on Wednesday conducted simultaneous searches at five locations, including three in Kashmir and one each in Bengaluru and Mangaluru, and arrested four accused in connection with investigation into the Islamic State of Iraq & Syria (ISIS) recruitment case (RC-05/2021/NIA/DLI.)

The NIA team also raided the house of former MLA BM Idinabba's son, BM Pasha, in Ullal near Mangaluru, allegedly because one of his family members is suspected to have had links with the terror organisation, ISIS.

"The NIA arrested Obaid Hamid and Muzammil Hassan Bhat from Kashmir, Ammar Abdul Rahman from Mangaluru and Shankar Venkatesh Perumal, alias Ali Muaviya, from Bengaluru for allegedly raising funds, radicalising and motivating more people to join ISIS," said the NIA spokesperson.

On March 5 this year, the agency had registered a suo motu case against seven known and other unknown accused persons under Sections 120B, 121 & 121A of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) & Sections 17, 18, 188, 20, 38 & 40 of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, pertaining to terrorist activities of one Mohammed Ameen, alias Abu Yahya, from Kerala and his associates. They were running various ISIS propaganda channels on social media platforms such as Telegram, Hoop and Instagram, propagating violent jihadi ideology, radicalising and recruiting new members for the banned terrorist organisation.

Subsequently, in the same month, NIA had conducted searches and arrested three accused -- Mohd Ameen, Dr Rahees Rasheed and Mus'Hab Anwar – in the case.

The NIA conducted raid at former MLA BM Idinabba's son, BM Pasha, in Ullal near Mangaluru | KPN

"During investigation, it was revealed that after the decline of the ISIS Caliphate in Syria/Iraq, Ameen had visited Kashmir in March 2020 for Hijrah (religious migration) and engaging in terrorist activities. He had also raised funds in association with Kashmir-based accused Mohammad Waqar Lone, alias Wilson Kashmiri, and his associates," said the Central agency. "As part of the conspiracy, funds were also transferred to Waqar Lone by the accused through banking channels and digital payment on the directions of Ameen," the NIA stated.

FAMILY HAD SUBSCRIBED TO YOUTUBE CHANNELS ON ISIS

NIA sleuths conducted a raid on former MLA BM Idinabba's son B M Pasha's house in Ullal, near Mangaluru, in the early hours of Wednesday. A team of 25 NIA personnel was led by an officer of the rank of Deputy Inspector General of Police from Bengaluru. They alleged that Pasha's family members had sympathised and subscribed to YouTube channels related to ISIS. Pasha runs a real estate business and both his sons live abroad. Former MLA Idinabba passed away in April 2009. Meanwhile, Mangaluru DCP (Law and Order) Hariram Shankar told TNIE that the NIA team is interrogating a suspect.

During searches, several digital devices, including laptops, mobile phones, hard disk drives, pen drives, multiple SIM cards of different service providers and incriminating documents were seized

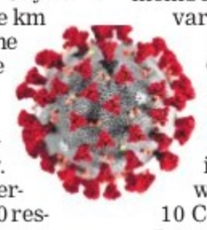
Illegal blocks leave Kerala border residents frustrated

GEORGE POIKAYIL
@ Kasaragod

THE blockade has disrupted the lives of 5,500 people in these five wards.

The first two wards of Enmakaje panchayat -- Saya and Chavarkkad -- sit one km inside Karnataka. The Karnataka police have set up a checkpost at Saradka on the Cherkala-Kalladka state highway. The two wards of Kerala have around 3,000 residents and they cannot access their health centre, ration shop, village office, panchayat office and agriculture office.

"If we have to get an RT-PCR test, we will have to go to Perla in Kerala 15km away. The Karnataka police will not allow us back if we do not return with a negative certificate. And the lab takes at least 24 hours to send the results," said Aithappa Kulal, former panchayat member and resident of Chavarkkad ward.



Chavarkkad has zero Covid case and Saya has one Covid case now. Since the outbreak of the pandemic last year, the two wards had fewer than 10 Covid cases.

But the Karnataka police did not allow even panchayat and health officials to go to Saya and Chavarkkad, said Enmakaje panchayat president Somashekhara J S.

"We are starting from Kerala and stopping only in Kerala. Yet, they are not allowing us to pass," he said.

It's déjà vu for him. In the first wave, when Karnataka dumped mud on the road to block the right to movement of Keralites, he moved the Karnataka High Court which ruled that roads cannot be blocked.

"These blocks and restrictions are patently illegal. The least the police can do is give travel passes to people of these border wards so that their movement is not restricted," he said.

The Karnataka police stationed at the checkpost told Somashekhara that they were only following the orders.

CJI recuses from hearing water dispute

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

CHIEF Justice of India NV Ramana on Wednesday recused from hearing the water dispute between Andhra Pradesh and Telangana after AP opposed the CJI's proposal for mediation in the matter.

The plea of AP against Telangana pertains to sharing of Krishna river water for drinking and irrigation purposes. During the hearing, the counsel for AP said that the matter requires adjudication by court. At this, the bench said, "We cannot force you if you do not want mediation. Let the matter be listed before another bench." Solicitor General Tushar Mehta said that the two States have no objection to the CJI hearing the matter. But Ramana declined. "No. How can I hear it? List it before another bench," he maintained.

During the previous hearing, the CJI said he was willing to facilitate mediation between the two States. "I am from both States. I am not interested in hearing legal issues but can help if parties agree to mediation," he said.

AP has alleged that Telangana has been denying them their legitimate share of water for drinking and irrigation purposes. The plea stated that the quantity of water has seriously depleted in Srisailam Dam on account of use of water for power generation by Telangana. The AP government requested Telangana to stop the drawal of water from Srisailam reservoir.

Carcass of green turtle washes ashore

SUBHASH CHANDRA N S @ Karwar

THE carcass of an extremely rare green turtle was found ashore on the Rabindranath Tagore beach in Karwar for the first time. This has thrilled the marine biologists, who said it has opened a new avenue of study and conservation.

The green turtle was found behind the Marine Biology postgraduate centre in Karwar by some students. "It was first sighted by Asha Naik, my classmate, who called me to confirm the identity. We do not have a record of finding a green turtle here before," Kiran Vasudeva Murthy, a student of Marine Biology told Express.

They alerted the forest department regarding the find, and an official from the special wing monitoring marine life, arrived to inspect the body.

"We identified it as the body of a green turtle. Unfortunately, it had decomposed badly and we could not assess the cause of its death. Forest officials disposed of it without conducting postmortem," Shivakumar Haragi, Assisstant Professor, Department of Marine Biology, who inspected the turtle said.

Green turtles are the largest among the hard shelled sea turtles that weigh up to 200 kg.

Deputy Conservator of Forests Karwar Vasanth Reddy too said that this is the first record of sighting a green turtle here and said the forest department has now started monitoring the rare marine wildlife considering their significance.

DURING the investigation, the police found another similar case where Srimathi had taken a baby from another mother, Manjula, and sold it to a childless couple in Kollegal.

The two children have been rescued and placed under the custody of government children's home.

"All adoptions should be done through the Central Adoption Resource Authority (CARA). The act of buying and selling children is illegal. We have collaborated with women and child welfare and health departments to keep a tab on adoptions," the SP said.

Kerala IUML president gets ED notice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kozhikode/T'Puram

THE Enforcement Directorate has served a notice on Indian Union Muslim League (IUML) state president Panakkad Syed Hyderali Shihab Thangal in connection with a probe into a money laundering case.

Though Thangal has been asked to appear before the agency on Friday, he is unlikely to turn up as he is undergoing treatment at a hospital in the city for more than a month.

Meanwhile, former minister and CPM-backed independent MLA K T Jaleel said earlier on Wednesday that Thangal was questioned by the ED. Addressing a press conference in the assembly media room, Jaleel produced a copy of the notice ED issued to Thangal on July 24, 2020. IUML national general secretary P K Kunhalikutty, however, refuted it saying ED officials did not 'question' Thangal but only sought clarity on certain matters.

The case relates to alleged laundering of ₹10 crore using party mouthpiece Chandrika. The investigating agency suspects the money obtained through corruption in the Palarivattom flyover.

Justify deferring local polls, HC directs state

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EXPRESSING displeasure over the State Government's decision to defer all local body elections till December 2021 citing Covid-19, the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday directed the government to file an affidavit, justifying its stand to postpone the elections.

Passing the order while hearing a suo motu PIL registered for not holding elections to local bodies before expiry of the term, as per Constitutional mandate, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice NS Sanjay Gowda orally observed that if religious places are kept open and people can go there in queue, can't they come to polling booths? This is the only state not to abide by the Constitutional mandate.

When the matter was taken up for hearing, the government advocate placed on record the government's decision to postpone elections to all local bodies, including urban local bodies, till December 2021, and accordingly request the State Election Commission (SEC) to defer the polls.

Meanwhile, senior advocate KN Phanindra, representing the SEC, submitted that all deputy commissioners are ready for elections and even the SEC has held a meeting on July 28, 2021.

TN okays 7.5% quota for govt school students in professional courses

BINITA JAISWAL @ Chennai

IN line with the 7.5 per cent reservation in admission to medical courses for government school students implemented by the previous AIADMK government, the DMK government on Wednesday announced the same quota for admissions to professional courses such as engineering, agriculture, fisheries, veterinary, and law. The Cabinet, led by Chief Minister MK Stalin, decided that legislation providing for the quota would be introduced during the ensuing Budget session of the State Assembly, scheduled on August 13.

The decision was taken on the basis of the report submitted by the Justice D Murugesan Commission, constituted by the State government on June 15, to examine, assess and analyse the reasons for poor representation of government school students in professional courses and recommend remedial measures to address the issue. "It has been decided to introduce a bill to implement the recommendation of the commission in the upcoming session itself," said an official release.

The formation of the commission was one of the first things that the DMK government did after assuming charge, as they realised there was a low representation of government school students in professional courses in the State. Subsequently, the commission submitted its report on July 21 and recommended giving preferential treatment to government school students in admission to such courses.

According to sources, the committee had submitted an 84-page report to the Chief Minister, after analysing data provided by the Chief Educational Officers, in which it mentioned that about two per cent of government school students were being admitted to Anna University and fewer than 10 per cent of such students to State-run engineering colleges. It was even lower in law colleges and other universities.

DEVOTEES ALLOWED FROM AUG 23

Puri's Jagannath temple to open from August 16

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Puri

THE doors of the Shri Jagannath temple at Puri will be opened from August 16 after staying off limits for more than three months due to the second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic.

However, general devotees will have to wait till August 23 for darshan of the deities. The temple administration and the stakeholders including Chhatisha Nijog and district administration have decided to adopt a similar strategy for graded reopening of Srimandir as done after the first wave last year.

Following a joint meeting held on Wednesday, Shree Jagannath Temple Administration chief Krishan Kumar said that locals of Puri will be allowed darshan of the Lords in the first five days till August 20. Thereafter, darshan will be open for all starting August 23.

The temple will be closed during weekend shutdown, till the time the restrictions are in effect in Puri. The temple will also remain closed on Janmashtami on August 30 to avoid overcrowding.

Darshan timing in the temple has been fixed from 7 am to 8 pm for the five weekdays. Production of Covid negative report obtained within 96 hours or complete vaccination certificate is mandatory for all devotees, including the locals who will be allowed entry in the first phase.

All devotees are expected to strictly adhere to Covid guidelines by wearing masks at all times, sanitise hands and maintain social distancing. Partaking of food will not be allowed inside the Ananda Bazaar but mahaprasad will be available for purchase.

Covid-19 test will be conducted on all servitors, temples officials and staff from August 8-10 including those who participated in the recently-concluded annual Rath Yatra. "Efforts are on to ensure that all sevayats are fully vaccinated," Kumar said.

During the first wave of the pandemic, the temple was closed for around nine months from March to December.

CHALLENGE FOR OPPN TO REPLICATE UNITY IN STATE POLLS

If the BJP were to dismiss and laugh away the opposition's latest unity show, it would not be entirely unjustified. The Pegasus snooping controversy has forged a not-so-rare unity among most opposition parties, but questions over its longevity and strength will always remain a question mark given the past record. Attempts have been made earlier as well to unite all political forces against the BJP, but they have largely been ephemeral owing to lack of unity of purpose and inherent contradictions. If anti-BJPism is the glue that currently binds the disparate parties together, they have more often than not come unstuck because of personal ambitions. Many leaders such as Sharad Pawar are larger-than-life characters who cannot easily put the larger, collective interest before narrow, personal ones. Another challenge before the parties is to transform the issue-based unity into electoral unity. The recent Assembly elections were a case in point as many of the parties that bonded over breakfast on Tuesday were sworn rivals on the ground during the elections. This situation is unlikely to change in future elections. For instance, in Uttar Pradesh, the most coveted of all states where elections will take place in a few months, the Samajwadi Party, Congress and even the Left may vie with each other for the spoils. If the opposition parties have to collectively confront the might of the BJP, especially in states where the saffron party has a base, putting up a united front during polls is a prerequisite. Unity over Pegasus, price rise or the farm laws is not an election trump card.

While unity among opposition parties is needed for them to challenge the BJP electorally, it is also required to keep a check on the increasingly unilateral style of governance wherein there appears to be no place for a consultative process on issues of public interest. The sudden national lockdown last year, putting millions of migrant workers into untold hardships, or the hurried passage of the farm laws are two such cases where there was no discussion or debate. Worse still is to paint any criticism of the government with an anti-national brush. A strong opposition is needed to check this slide into dogmatism.

UNESCO TAG A WAKE-UP CALL FOR T'GANA GOVT

The Ramappa temple in Telangana's Mulugu district is a poem in architecture. The UNESCO, recognising its grandeur, has accorded the much-coveted World Heritage Site status to it, the first in Telangana and the 39th in India. The 800-year-old Shiva temple, built during the reign of Kakatiya ruler Ganapati Deva, has withstood the vagaries of nature and stands tall even today. The use of lightweight bricks that can float on water in its construction continues to amaze even modern engineers. The intricate designs and the many sculptures of dancers (salabhanjikalu) speak a language of their own.

UNESCO, while granting the status, however, cautioned that when its team visits the temple in December, it should meet certain other requirements that for the time being it had ignored. The High Court, reacting first, took upon itself the responsibility of supervising the protection, conservation and restoration of the temple in accordance with UNESCO's specifications even as the state government was getting its act together.

The state government's record in conserving and protecting monuments is far from satisfactory. There are 137 buildings under its protection while the ASI takes care of eight monuments including Ramappa, Charminar and the Thousand Pillar temple in Warangal. The state government, in 2019, tried to pull down 150-year-old Errum Manzil Palace in Hyderabad for the construction of a new Assembly complex but the HC put its foot down firmly. Though Telangana had brought in the State Heritage Act in 2017, it is yet to constitute a full-scale state-level committee to decide if a monument merited the status of a heritage structure. The High Court, while dealing with a petition recently on the demolition of rock formations in Hyderabad, pulled up the government for the inordinate delay in the constitution of the committee. The ASI, for its part, does not have enough manpower or funds to restore or protect the monuments under its care. The new Tourism and Culture Minister G Kishan Reddy, who hails from Telangana, has to rise to the occasion by giving the much-needed facelift to the monuments that are crying for attention. Let history live.

Fear marks the national mood today. Some fears are due to the pandemic and its attendant socioeconomic and psychological fallout, while some are induced by the state

COVID, LOSS OF JOBS, PEGASUS ... FEAR IS IN THE AIR

K JAYAKUMAR

Former Kerala chief secretary and ex-VC, Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam Varsity

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Life in India during the pandemic presents an unprecedented tale of anxiety, uncertainty and deprivation. It could be decoded in different terms such as economic distress, social privation and emotional stress. The common denominator of these diverse manifestations is fear, which marks the national mood. Fear is the emotional antonym of freedom. This cardinal idea was amplified by Tagore long before 1947, when he visualised the heaven of freedom, where the 'mind is without fear and the head is held high'. Unfortunately, today there is fear in the mind and the heads are bent. Some of these fears have been generated by the pandemic and its attendant socioeconomic and psychological fallout, while some are induced by the state. Cumulatively, fear today is a tangible reality. The five major fears that stalk the nation today could be summarised as follows:

Fear of uncertainty: Covid-19 has shaken up all certainties. How long the pandemic would last and what all havoc it would wreak is beyond prediction. The sad saga of uncertainty keeps unfolding without an end in sight. Will the lost jobs ever be redeemed? Will the opportunities and possibilities that once illuminated the skies of young minds ever come back? The economically and socially marginalised and powerless millions stare towards a blank and barren landscape of uncertainty. Fear of uncertainty fills their lives with anxiety and drains willpower and optimism.

Fear of expensive hospitalisation and death: The fear of virus infection is real. It is not the infection per se that causes fear. The probability of prolonged hospitalisation, its trauma, unfortunate complications, the insecurity it generates and the unbearable financial liability it engenders are all real sources of fear. The instances of unbelievable bills of private hospitals are modern-day horror stories in social consciousness.

Fear of insignificance: With increasing income-instability and the consequential powerlessness, wage earners are faced with dried-up resources and the fear of irrelevance. Their chances of finding better jobs or venturing into new activities are badly dented by the current economic stagnation. Besides, the steadily rising cost of living has hollowed out the finances of millions of households. Fear of helplessness and insignificance, with its ramifications on their mental health, is rampant and real.

Fear of shrinking opportunities: The pre-Covid period may not have been an ideal time. But young people could nurture their pet dreams and keep their aspirations high. The freedom to dream kept dejections and disappointments at bay. With mounting uncertainties, the dreams of young people have started wilting. The shrinking educational and employment opportunities are a source of debilitating fear for the youth.

Fear of failure: Cumulatively, these factors have been gnawing at the entrepreneurial confidence of individuals. As the positive factors are dwarfed by overwhelming threats and limitations, fear of failure stares at them. Business ventures that were successful in the pre-Covid times are now confronted with an entirely new set of hostile factors beyond their capabilities to overcome. Establishments that were successful for several years are on the verge of collapse, with income drying up and liabilities mounting. Such stories abound in every city and town, and their number is not insignificant.

> It is a matter of real concern and sadness that when a nation burdened with multiple fears and unprecedented vulnerabilities looks towards the government for solace, confidence and hope, it is confronted with a fractured polity, hostile politics, misplaced policies and intransigent governance

What does the state do to allay these fears and instil confidence and hope? Governments may have neither the solutions nor the resources, yet their attitude and conduct matter. At least, the state should not compound the existing fears of its citizens by misplaced policies, hard-hitting actions and stringent legislations. The unmistakable impression created, however, is that of a government that would like to pretend and make others believe that the economic devastation is nothing as grave as projected. Government handouts and tweets tirelessly try to paint the picture of a nation effortlessly bouncing back to normalcy, brushing off the snowflakes on the garment and resuming the journey. This hollow smugness makes people even more vulnerable, cynical and helpless as it conveys the message that their suffering does not matter. The brazen underreporting of deaths on account of the pandemic and the casual stance of the Centre absolving itself of the obligation to pay compensation to the families where the breadwinners died of Covid reiterate this attitude of making light of a grim situation.

Even the alleged use of the Pegasus spyware to snoop on political and business heavyweights, civil servants, police officers, journalists and several others has a bearing on the citizens as it unravels a snide attitude of the establishment. Though most of us may not be snoop-worthy and need not be anxious about our privacy, the Pegasus controversy has, no doubt, thickened the overall fear in the air. Apart from moral issues, it betrays perverted priorities. The death of Stan Swamy in judicial custody, the ever-burgeoning cases booked under a draconian UAPA and sedition charges, and the various stringent and disproportionate actions initiated against legitimate dissent, all fuse in the national consciousness as a psychosis of fear. It is a matter of real concern and sadness that when a nation burdened with multiple fears and unprecedented vulnerabilities looks towards the government for solace, confidence and hope, it is confronted with a fractured polity, hostile politics, misplaced policies and intransigent governance. All these against a looming fear of circumscribed free expression. Only a compassionate state can allay the fears and install freedom, which alone is the trusted antidote to the downward spiral of helplessness and hopelessness. Where freedom is under threat, fear invades.

NEP & THE ROLE OF OUR ART, DESIGN INSTITUTIONS

JAYARAM PODUVAL

Head, Department of Art History, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda

The nation is celebrating the first anniversary of National Education Policy 2020 this week with numerous activities in educational institutes through webinars and virtual lectures. Apart from various policies suggesting administrative and academic restructuring, NEP 2020 emphasises the 'Promotion of Indian Languages, Arts and Culture' (Policy 22, Page 53 of NEP). Interestingly the Education Policy Document of 1986 too referred to similar concerns under the heading 'The Cultural Perspective' (NPE 1986, Page 158). What made the present policymakers reiterate the concerns and suggest more action? The answer is quite obvious—we as a nation did not walk on the suggested path. The policies remained as mere files in the dark cupboards of administration.

NEP 2020 is probably the first policy document to clearly verbalise the importance of interaction between education and crafts, which reads thus, "Outstanding local artists and craftspersons will be hired as guest faculty to promote local music, art, languages, and handicraft, and to ensure that students are aware of the culture and local knowledge where they study." The emphasis and interface with craft traditions is definitely an encouraging sign; the crafts sector needs further diversification for its progress since many clusters are entirely dependent on government and non-governmental schemes for their sustenance. This system has to change—there is a need for more employability in the crafts sector and the pride Indian craftsmen held in the pre-industrial era needs to be returned back to them. India could not integrate the holistic cultural approach to design, unlike other nations like China and Japan, which had to deal with tradition and modernity in their design approach. While in these countries, design innovated with an inclusive and cultural approach, India, due to colonial dominance, opted to cater to the Western taste altogether and forgot to nurture the indigenous industry and massive customer base. Identifying new avenues for the craft sector is thus crucial if India needs to nurture its traditional designs. The products based on traditional skills and their innate ecofriendliness are available in craft clusters, but the consumer is hardly aware of the choices and neither is the producer (the craftsmen) conscious about the possibilities.

Craft documentation, compilation and publishing of data through online and physical directories and books will benefit the sector as well as higher education institutions. It may be also noted here that attempts in a similar direction had been done primarily by government-supported design institutes. However the private players are lagging behind. To create awareness of crafts among the young generation, design institutes should create workshops for schoolchildren and their teachers. At the Maharaja Ranjitsinh Institute of Design run by our university in Baroda, we experimented with this and school teachers of the city were part of the craft festival known as Vasantotsav. The aim was not to make them into craftspeople but rather sensitise the teachers to these traditions and inspire them to introduce them in their academic practice. Design institutes in India can also look to create more opportunities to interact with the sector by inviting craftspeople as the visiting faculties as suggested by the NEP. The result will be far-reaching once design professionals are involved actively in the sector.

The suggestions on art and culture, proposed by NPE 1986 and NEP 2020, continue to be relevant especially in a nation like India where you are not far away from a heritage site wherever you are. A heritage site does not mean only dilapidated monuments but also includes crafts and intangible heritage like performing arts and even rituals. Recently, Dholavira, the Indus Valley site in Gujarat, was named as a UNESCO World Heritage Monument. I wonder how many people even in Gujarat understood the importance of the site. Dholavira was scientifically excavated in 1992, almost three decades ago. Gujarat Tourism built a hotel there a decade ago that remained closed most of the time due to lack of visitors to the site. The portion on Indus Valley history remained only in textbooks and hardly anybody thought of an exciting site visit.

> As part of research work, I have had lengthy stays in many heritage sites. I have seen busloads of schoolchildren visiting Ajanta and Ellora, but unfortunately never seeing anything. The teachers accompanying them were as efficient as shepherds, constantly counting their numbers and controlling them lest they climb over the dancing Nataraja. This is the future generation of India, unaware of our heritage, since our education system could not creatively integrate cultural studies into the syllabi

As part of research work, I have had lengthy stays in many important heritage sites in India like Hampi, Ajanta, Badami, Ellora, etc. I have seen busloads of schoolchildren visiting Ajanta and Ellora , but unfortunately never seeing anything. They were more interested in the echo created by the cave when they scream or whistle. The teachers accompanying them were as efficient as the shepherds in hills, constantly counting their numbers and controlling them lest they climb over the dancing Nataraja. I have never seen a teacher explaining anything to the students or any curious student asking any question about those monuments. This is the future generation of India, unaware of the culture of the nation, because our education system could not creatively integrate cultural studies into the syllabi. The significance of an interdisciplinary approach in schools and higher education and also introducing students to tangible and intangible heritage as suggested by NEP 2020 become relevant here.

In this context, what is the role of art institutions? As we are aware, the Indian education system is hardly inter-disciplinary, though this was suggested even in the earlier education policy documents. Each specialisation area including art institutions remain in isolation, hesitant to handshake with allied and non-allied areas. There should be more avenues for interested individuals to learn about art and appreciate the creativity. Art institutions may have to open their doors to interested curious minds by providing teachers and master's students as resource persons when schoolchildren visit the heritage sites or museums. The institutions can also conduct certificate courses on art appreciation for school teachers, provided that is approved by the universities.

This time around, let the art institutions take the lead to bring innovative changes in our curriculum, incorporating the suggestions of NEP 2020, and make a creative change in the education policy. This in future may help change the perception about art in India so that we have more people at museums and heritage sites. One can surely dream about a future where schoolchildren sitting in an orderly fashion listen intensely to the teacher explaining the sculpture of Nataraja and the Dancing Sapta Matrikas of Aihole.

Let us start a dialogue with our youngsters to create more rasikas of art. More the audience, the better, isn't it?

Disservice to people

The monsoon session of Parliament has been a complete washout. The opposition parties have been doing a disservice to the people with their non-cooperation. Their actions make it clear that they want to be in the limelight and are not interested in taking part in Parliamentary discussions to sort out national issues.

Postmaster's dedication

The report about postmaster S Christuraja who undertakes an arduous 15 km trek once a month to deliver old-age pension ₹1,000 to a supercentenarian is a shining example of great service with undeviating devotion to duty. Christuraja deserves a cash prize or monthly incentive from the postal department and accolades from higher authorities, especially the prime minister.

Who will lead opposition?

This is with reference to Rahul steps in to fill Oppn leadership vacuum (Aug 4). It is unimaginable that someone like Rahul Gandhi, during whose tenure as party chief the Congress plummeted to its current depths, has the stature to lead a combined opposition that includes political stalwarts like Sharad Pawar, Lalu Prasad Yadav and Mamata Banerjee, among others. The present condition of the GOP is weak. It remains to be seen whether other parties would be willing to let the Congress play a pivotal role as leader of the opposition front.

Protect temple property

This is with reference to How were temple thefts dealt with in Chola era? (Aug 4). The article highlights that temple possessions should be protected at all costs and not diverted for any purpose other than its maintenance, rituals and functions. Sticking firmly to the code that none is beyond the law in the eyes of dharma, the ruling monarchs of the Chola dynasty preserved the sanctity of temples and punished offenders stringently. Our present rulers should try and emulate this.

Rights and duties

The concept of dharma that pervaded public life in historical India was great. It was an amalgamation of rights and duties. If duties were satisfactorily completed, rights were automatically ensured.

Floor leaders of 14 parties want both Houses to take up Pegasus and farmer protest issues

THE Opposition on Wednesday toughened its stand over discussion on Pegasus and said the government's attempts to divide their unity has failed.

In a joint statement issued by the Opposition and signed by floor leaders of 14 parties, they said they stand firm and united on their demand for a discussion on Pegasus issue in both the Houses, to be replied by the home minister, as this has national security implications.

The Opposition has also conveyed that discussions on farmers' agitations arising from the three anti-farmer laws should follow the discussion on Pegasus. AAP, which skipped the Opposition meeting Tuesday, also signed the statement.

Urging the Centre to respect Parliamentary democracy, the Opposition leaders said: "It is unfortunate that the government has unleashed a misleading campaign to malign the combined Opposition and blame it for the continued disruptions in the Parliament. The responsibility for the deadlock lies squarely at the doorsteps of the government, which remains arrogant and obdurate and refuses to accept the Opposition's demand for an informed debate in both the Houses."

Rajya Sabha Chairman Venkaiah Naidu held meetings with leaders from the Opposition and treasury benches to end the stalemate and said all issues can be taken up for discussion after agreement between the two sides.

6 TMC MPs suspended

As uproar continued in the Upper House, Naidu ordered 6 TMC MPs to withdraw for the day, for they entered the well of the House and disobeyed the Chair. He said their conduct was disorderly in the House. The MPs include Dola Sen, Nadimul Haque, Abir Ranjan Biswas, Shanta Chhetri, Arpita Ghosh and Mausam Noor. Another TMC MP, Santanu Sen has already been suspended for the entire monsoon session for snatching and tearing a statement from IT minister Ashwini hand on Pegasus.

In a high decibel drama, four of the six suspended MPs tried to enter Rajya Sabha after the House was adjourned for the day, but were stopped by security officers. Allegedly, there wsa a minor scuffle. Sources said a security official was injured and that action is likely to be taken against the MPs.

MINOR DEATH ROW

PARTIES FORM QUEUES TO MEET VICTIM'S KIN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

POLITICAL leaders including Congress MP Rahul Gandhi on Wednesday made a beeline to meet the parents of the nine-year-old Scheduled Caste girl, who was allegedly raped and murdered in Old Nangal Rai Village of Delhi Cantonment area.

Gandhi assured all support to the family. "Tears of the mother and father are saying only one thing. Their daughter — daughter of the country — deserves justice. And I am standing with them on this path of justice," he tweeted. He was the first leader to reach out to the victim's parents on Wednesday.

> Tears of the mother and father are saying only one thing. Their daughter — daughter of the country — deserves justice. I am with them on this path of justice
> Rahul Gandhi, Congress

Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal also met them and announced a magisterial inquiry into the matter.

According to allegations, the girl was raped and killed by a priest and three employees of a crematorium near Delhi Cantonment. Delhi Police has registered a case against the four on the basis of the statement of the minor's mother, who alleged her daughter was cremated without their consent on Sunday.

A delegation led by CPI (M) polit buro member Brinda Karat also visited the family. Delegation members said they are with the family in their fight for justice. "We demand speedy justice through a fast-track court and slapping appropriate sections of the IPC against the culprits. The Central government, being responsible for law and order in the capital, must provide additional compensation to the family," said KM Tiwari, secretary, CPI(M) Delhi.

The accused have been booked under Sections 302, 376 and 506 of the IPC, along with relevant sections of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act and the SC/ST Act.

Bahujan Samaj Party supremo Mayawati also demanded strict action against the culprits. "The brutal murder of a nine-year-old girl and her cremation is very sad and shameful. BSP demands strict action against the culprits and necessary steps to prevent recurrence of such incidents," tweeted the fromer UP CM in Hindi on Wednesday.

In the evening, Bhim Army, led by its chief Chandrashekhar Azad, held a candle light protest at India Gate to seek justice in the case.

Rahul faces ire for posting pic of parents

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) on Wednesday wrote to Twitter India, objecting to a post by Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, which contains a photograph of the alleged Delhi minor rape victim's kin. The BJP also hit out at him for sharing the picture of the parents of the victim, demanding action against him under the relevant laws.

The NCPCR said the tweet violates the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act and the Juvenile Justice Act. As per NCPCR, the picture Gandhi posted violates Section 74 of the Juvenile Justice Act and Section 23 of the POCSO Act.

"The commission has received a complaint in which it has been brought to its notice that a photo of the minor girl victim's family has been posted with the caption stating that they are the father and the mother of the victim child on Twitter handle @RahulGandhi," said the NCPCR letter. "In the photo, faces of the victim's father and mother can be seen, which reveals the identity of the minor girl victim."

BJP spokesperson Sambit Patra quoted sections of the POCSO Act, saying that Gandhi has shown complete ignorance of the provisions that the identity of the victim and their relatives should not be revealed. Patra accused that Gandhi by sharing the photo on the media has violated the provisions of the laws. Later, Union minister Anurag Thakur asked why is Congress silent on rapes in Rahasthan and Chhattisgarh.

20 bills passed in monsoon session without debate

RICHA SHARMA & MANISH ANAND
@ New Delhi

THE monsoon session has seen 20 bills passed in both Houses of Parliament, either without discussion or minimal, limited to treasury bench MPs speaking on the legislation.

The Rajya Sabha has passed nine bills since the House convened on July 19 and clocked nearly 17 minutes per bill for discussion and passing, as the Centre decided to push the legislative business amidst protests by the Opposition seeking discussion on Pegasus.

The Lok Sabha passed 11 bills, each on an average taking about eight minutes. Most of these bills were passed without discussion. In fact, Lok Sabha has not taken up a single issue for discussion.

Expressing concern over the practice, Leader of Opposition, Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge said, "Last week, the BJP government ramrodded 10 bills of national importance in 97 minutes. Parliament was condescendingly granted 9.7 minutes to reflect, deliberate on and pass each bill. The PM is demeaning the democratic and parliamentary process."

When the bills came up for discussion, several Opposition MPs' speeches in the Upper House were cut short as they demanded discussion on the Pegasus snooping issue, farm laws and price rise. As the Centre went ahead with passing bills amid the din, some Opposition MPs demanded division (voting), but were told by the presiding officers of respective Houses that it won't be allowed because Opposition members are protesting in the well and the House is not in order.

"The Centre has bulldozed through bills without discussion and debate. The entire country is witness to the way laws are being passed," said RJD MP Manoj K Jha.

The Lower House hasn't been able to take up discussions on situations emerging out of the Covid-19 pandemic, which had been agreed upon in the beginning by the treasury and Opposition benches.

Opposition MPs stay put in the well of the House, surrounding the Chair with placards, demanding discussion on Pegasus. The government has stuck to the strategy of passing as many bills as possible, which are essentially replacements for ordinances. If not passed, the Centre will have to repeat the process with Presidential promulgations and again come before Parliament.

'Role of Pak could have been more constructive'

PUSHKAR BANAKAR @ New Delhi

IN an exclusive interview, Afghanistan's ambassador to India, Farid Mamundzay speaks on how the current peace dialogue is not meaningful and how Pakistan could have played a constructive role in tackling the Taliban.

The US is withdrawing troops completely from Afghanistan by end of August, much earlier than expected. Do you think it has affected Afghanistan's preparedness and hence resulted in deterioration of the security situation?

Yes. Withdrawal of US and NATO forces had a negative impact on the security situation of the country. There has been a feeling among wider segments of our population that the global community has abandoned us. That has hit the morale of our security forces. As result, we saw an emboldened Taliban.

FARID MAMUNDZAY
Afghan ambassador

How big a factor is Pakistan in the resurgence of Taliban?

Pakistan could have played a more constructive role by helping the Afghan government and people eliminate Taliban's sanctuaries on their soil. Pakistan helps them mobilise resources and they operate from Pakistan to inflict harm on Afghanistan. Our request to Islamabad has been to stop Taliban from committing atrocities and deal with it in a manner required. We haven't seen any concrete action which would show that the mindset in Pakistan has changed.

What is your assessment of negotiations with Taliban, especially with more than one channel like the Istanbul Process, Qatar Negotiations in place? Has these been successful?

There is currently no meaningful dialogue with Taliban. What we see in Qatar or talks in Istanbul or meetings in Moscow are just optics. There is no genuine appetite on the part of the Taliban to resolve the conflict through peace settlement. The peace process from September till today has not delivered. We are nowhere where we should have been.

India has been a consistent partner for Afghanistan, with development projects close to $3 billion. What steps are you taking to protect Indian interests?

India has assisted us with infrastructure projects, education support and trade and commerce assistance. We would want India's involvement in peace related efforts for a number of reasons. India has not been a part of peace talks, particularly the extended troika, which is something we are not pleased about. Infrastructure projects by India are not only for the government but also for the people of that region and they are mindful about the benefits. There are instances where they have protected the projects.

Bill restoring power of states, UTs to make OBC list set to be tabled soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

IN line with the BJP's poll bid for the next year's Assembly elections, the Union Cabinet in its meeting on Wednesday is learnt to have given nod to a Constitution Amendment Bill to give the powers to the states and the Union Territories to draw their own lists of the other backward castes (OBCs).

The Constitution Amendment Bill was necessitated to get around the Supreme Court verdict, which had previously ruled that the power to draw the OBC list vested only with the Centre, according to a law enacted in 2018 by Parliament. The Constitution (102) Amendment Bill had granted the Constitutional status to the National Commission for Backward castes.

The Constitution (127) Amendment Bill, which will be brought before Parliament in the ongoing monsoon session, will allow the states to add castes in the OBC lists. The lists of the states and the UTs of the socially and educationally backward castes will be separate from the OBC list prepared by the Centre.

I&B minister Anurag Thakur did not deny or confirm the development | PTI

The Cabinet decision has come close on the heels of another decision which allowed OBC reservation in the national entrance tests for the medical education.

The Centre had previously argued before the Supreme Court that the Central law on drawing the OBC list was only for the purposes of the Central government and had not intended to take away the rights of the states and the UTs.

While briefing reporters about the Cabinet decision, Union Minister for Information and Broadcasting, Anurag Thakur had declined to confirm or decline the Cabinet taking up the Constitution (127) Amendment Bill, saying that Parliament is in session, not elaborating further.

Last month, Minister of Social Justice and Empowerment, Virendra Kumar had told Rajya Sabha that the government is in consultation with legal experts and the Ministry of Law and examining ways to protect the power of the states in determining the list of OBCs.

Mamata blames Damodar Valley Corporation-run dams for floods

Writes to Modi, says excessive release of water by them responsible for the catastrophe

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, after reviewing the flood situation in six southern districts of the state, wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi alleging that the "unprecedented release of water from the Damodar Valley Corporation (DVC) dams" has led to the "man-made" crisis.

She called on the Centre to draft a plan to upgrade the storage capacity of the dams to prevent such situations in the future.

Mamata, in her four-page letter, said 16 people died due to the flood and tens of thousands of farmers have lost their land and livelihood.

Earlier in the day, the prime minister telephoned her to seek updates about the flood situation and assured her of all possible assistance from the Union government.

Mamata complained to the prime minister that the DVC released water from its dams in an unplanned manner, causing a man-made flood situation in the state.

"In respect of the current flood, we will shortly be sending our damage assessment for your kind intervention. I would reiterate the need to develop holistic and long-term solutions with respect to the augmentation of storage capacity of the DVC system to ensure that West Bengal is spared the regular devastation and suffering from man-made floods perpetrated by huge release of water from the DVC dams," Mamata wrote.

Mamata lashed out at the Centre for lack of financial support during disasters. "Despite the state being regularly ravaged by natural disasters in the form of cyclones and man-made floods which we are presently witnessing, no financial help has been forthcoming from the Centre. The state has to compensate for the loss of lives and property from our meagre resources."

The Prime Minister's Office, in a tweet, said Modi has assured the Bengal government of all possible support from the Centre.

With Gwalior-Chambal region of Madhya Pradesh receiving heavy rains, the state's former chief minister Kamal Nath demanded a high-level probe into the washing away of three major bridges in Datia district within 24 hours. A high level probe should be conducted in the matter and responsibility be fixed on wrongdoers," Nath tweeted

Centre rejects 9.5 lakh applications from Bengal farmers for subsidy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kolkata

THE West Bengal government on Wednesday wrote to the Centre after applications of close to 9.5 lakh farmers from the state for the PM-Kisan scheme were rejected.

The state government had uploaded the names of 44,89,831 farmers on the Centre's portal for their inclusion in the Central scheme. Of that, 9,41,861 names were rejected. Applications of 24,31,885 farmers were accepted while 10 lakh applications are being verified.

The PM-Kisan scheme for peasants became the BJP's poll plank in West Bengal ahead of the recent Assembly elections in the state. The party had accused West Bengal Chief minister Mamata Banerjee of blocking the scheme in the state. Prime Minister Narendra Modi had raised the issue repeatedly during their election campaign in Bengal in a bid to gain farmers's support. In a letter to the Centre, the state government stressed that the Central scheme, under which ₹6,000 is provided each year to each applicants, should be extended to all the farmers whose names were uploaded by the state.

We have also demanded that the benefit be given to all farmers whose names we have uploaded. We are yet to get a reponse from the Centre

State government official

"We have sent a letter to the Union government a few days ago asking for the reason behind the decision to exclude names of about 9.5 lakh farmers. We have also demanded that the benefit be given to all farmers whose names we have uploaded. We are yet to get a reponse from the Centre," said a government official at the state secretariat. "The Centre has accused our CM of blocking the scheme and depriving farmers of its benefits. Now they are depriving 9.5 lakh peasants. We will make it a political issue in near future," a TMC leader said.

Ram Temple to open for devotees by end of 2023, before LS polls

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE sanctum sanctorum of the Ram Temple being built in Ayodhya will be opened to devotees by the end of December 2023, sources in the Ram Temple Trust said on Wednesday.

The opening of the sanctum sanctorum will take place once the idols of Ram Lalla and brothers are shifted to their final abode.

However, the construction of the entire temple complex is expected to complete only by the end of 2025, said the highly-placed sources.

At present, the idols are resting inside a makeshift temple made of bullet-proof optical fiber inside the Ram Janmabhoomi premises.

As per sources in the temple trust, the ongoing work at the foundation of the temple is likely to be completed by October, this year. After that, the second phase of the work is set to start in November around the time of Diwali.

The opening of the temple in December 2023 is significant as it comes months before the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

"It is expected that the work on the foundation of the proposed temple will finish by October. All engineers and labourers involved in this work are safe & healthy," the Shri Ram Janambhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust had said in a tweet last month.

The general secretary of the Temple Trust Champat Rai said the work is progressing round-the-clock in two shifts to ensure that the temple is constructed at the earliest and the pandemic does not impact the work.

The temple is being built by the trust with the money collected through donations. Volunteers have collected more than ₹2,100 crore from 11 crore people.

CBI takes over probe into death of J'khand judge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Ranchi

THE Central Bureau of Investigation on Wednesday took over the probe into the death of a Jharkhand judge in a hit and run case.

The special branch of the central agency has filed an FIR in the case.

"The FIR was lodged under section 302 of IPC and Additional Superintendent of Police (ASP), Special Cell-II at New Delhi, Vijay Kumar Shukla, has been appointed as investigation officer in the case," stated the FIR filed by CBI.

CCTV footage of the judge being hit by the auto-rickshaw has led to allegations that he was intentionally targeted.

According to the post-mortem report, death judge Uttam Anand died of head injury. The report also indicated that his jaw was broken after being hit by something.

Meanwhile, the Jharkhand High Court pulled up the state police for the manner in which it was investigating the case.

The division bench comprising Chief Justice Ravi Ranjan and Justice Sujit Narayan Prasad also came down heavily on the police for delay in registration of FIR in the incident. The court was hearing a PIL on the issue.

No hurry to vaccinate kids, says expert

"NONE of the available Covid-19 vaccines is capable of preventing transmission and only offer protection from hospitalisation and severe disease and therefore in my view there should be no hurry to vaccinate children," said Chandrakant Lahariya, health systems and vaccine specialist.

He also opined that inoculation of children should be carried out only when the complete data of clinical trials of vaccines to be used in kids is available for public scrutiny.

"It has to be fully established that the risks associated with the vaccine outweigh the benefits before kids are offered the shots," said Lahariya, pointing out that while a few countries such as the US have undertaken Covid-19 vaccination for 12-17 years, nowhere in the world are kids under 12 being inoculated due to lack of scientific data.

There have been some concerns that the third wave of the pandemic may primarily affect those under 18 as they will be the only age group left out of the Covid-19 vaccination coverage but experts, based on scientific evidence, have allayed these fears.

Children with fewer ACE 2 receptor cells, which the virus uses to infect humans, are shown to be less susceptible to severe ailment.

Maha cabinet accuses Guv of crossing limits of office

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IN a meeting of the Maharashtra cabinet on Wednesday, the state government expressed displeasure with Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari's conduct and slammed him for creating two power centres in the state.

It comes after the governor called collectors of three districts for a review meeting.

NCP minister Nawab Malik said the governor has no authority to call district collects for a review meeting.

During the cabinet meeting, CM Uddhav Thackeray asked the state chief secretary Sitaram Kunte to convey the cabinet's message to the governor.

"There is an elected government in Maharashtra. If the governor has any issue, then through the state secretary he can ask and convey the message, but not call the district collectors during his visit to any district," Malik said.

During his visit to Nanded, Parbhani and Hingli districts, the governor called respective district collectors for a review meeting. Malik said the governor was interfering in the work of the state government.

"Governor called Parbhani and Hingoli district collectors and issued directives. This is unconstitutional. Governor is trying to create two power centres," Malik said.

Malik said Koshyari, who was once the chief minister of Uttarakhand is still acting like a CM. "He feels that he is the chief minister and can call review meeting with district collectors," Malik said.

Congress president Nana Patole also criticised the governor. He should maintain the respect to the chair of the governor," Patole said.

Clash over land dispute kills 6 in Bihar

Bihar Sharif: Six members of an extended family, including a 60-year-old man, were shot dead in Bihar's Nalanda district in a clash over a long-standing land dispute, a senior police official said. The incident took place at Lodipur village under the Chhabilapur police station area of the district, Superintendent of Police Hari Prasath said. The dispute, lasting over the past 20 years, was over the ownership of 50 acres of land. The SP said that efforts were on to nab the attackers

Olympian's parents threatened by goons back home

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

ON one hand, the Assam government has started constructing a pakka road leading to the Olympic medalist Lovlina Borgohain's house, while on the other, Olympian Archer Pravin Jadhav is struggling to keep his family safe at Sarade in Satara district of Maharashtra.

Jadhav's parents had been threatened by local goons who told them to vacate the land on which their small kaccha house stands. As a result of the threats, his parents might leave Sarade and settle 30 kms away at Baramati where their relatives reside.

Satara police superintendent, Ajaykumar Bansal, told The New Indian Express over the phone that the land where the house stands belongs to the government and hence there is no question of private ownership. "The Satara Collector has already started the process of allotting the land to Jadhav's parents. Besides that, our local team also visited the village and got a statement that the Jadhav family will not be troubled by local Beldar family," Bansal said. The police had taken the goons to police stations and assured Jadhav's parents that nothing untoward happens.

A resident in Satara requesting anonymity said that, "After the locals staked claims over the land, tensions quickly escalated and Jadhav was informed. He immediately called the local police station and requested to look after the safety of his parents till he was back."

Another local said, "Despite the glory of Jadhav, his parents are facing hardship. His mother is a farm labourer and during Jadhav's match, they could not afford a TV set and someone had to arrange a laptop"

52% rise in road accidents sparks worry

Uttarakhand has seen a 52% rise in road accidents in the first six months of 2021, according to the data with the state police department. There were 659 accidents between January 1 and June 30. During the same period last year there were 432 accidents. Districts of Udham Singh Nagar, Haridwar and Dehradun have seen the biggest increases in the number of accidents. By contrast, hills districts of Pithoragarh, Bageshwar and Chamoli have registered a drop in the number of road accidents. District-wise, Haridwar reported the highest number of accidents during the period – 173. Udham Singh Nagar and Dehradun recorded 172 and 152 accidents. Police sources said measures are being taken to reduce the number of accidents.

Afghan strikes hit Taliban positions

Militants deny suffering losses from airstrikes | People told to stay indoors as fighting rages

KABUL

US and Afghan airstrikes hit Taliban targets overnight in southern Helmand province in an effort to dislodge the insurgents after they captured much of the provincial capital of Lashkar Gah, officials said on Wednesday.

The United Nations and Human Rights Watch asked both sides to take care to prevent civilian casualties as the fighting rages on. The Taliban have waged a fierce push over the past months as US and NATO forces complete their pullout from the war-torn country. They have taken large swaths of land and have now turned their guns on larger urban centres.

Ghulam Wali Afghan, a lawmaker from Helmand, said his relatives and constituents in Lashkar Gah have told him of bodies in the streets and residents hiding inside their homes, too afraid to venture out and collect the dead.

After a night of heavy airstrikes, the Defence Ministry said on Wednesday that the Taliban have suffered heavy losses in Lashkar Gah, though there was no immediate way to confirm that statement. Taliban spokesman Zabihullah Mujahid denied the losses.

The authorities did not say whether Afghan forces have retaken back territory. On Tuesday, residents and officials had said the Taliban control nine out of 10 districts in the city.

The fall of Lashkar Gah would be a major turning point in the Taliban offensive and it would also be the first provincial capital to be captured by the insurgents in several years. The fighting this week has kept residents of Lashkar Gah trapped and hunkered down inside their homes.

On Wednesday, the province's hospital chief, Sher Ali Shakir, urged people to remain in their houses, saying that in past 24 hours at least seven civilians were killed and 101 were wounded. Most of the injuries were bullet wounds, he said.

In Kandahar, airstrikes on Wednesday killed 18 civilians, including children, said Charlotte Rose, regional media manager for Save the Children. There was no confirmation from the government on this report.

In Herat, Afghan forces pushed the Taliban out of the city but were badly needing new supplies, according to Omar Nasir Mujadidi. AP

PM refuses to resign, delays vote by a month

Kuala Lumpur: Embattled Malaysian Prime Minister Muhyiddin Yassin refused to resign on Wednesday after a key ally pulled support for him, but said he will seek a vote of confidence in Parliament next month to prove his legitimacy to govern. Shortly after a meeting with King Sultan Abdullah Sultan Ahmad Shah at the palace, Muhyiddin said in a national broadcast that he had been informed by the monarch that eight lawmakers from a key party in his ruling alliance had withdrawn support for him. The party, the United Malays National Organisation, is the largest in the alliance, but it is split with some not backing the premier. UMNO on Tuesday said Muhyiddin had lost the right to govern with the withdrawal of support from some party lawmakers. AP

Hospital treatments curbed amid virus surge

Tokyo: Japan's parliament on Wednesday debated a contentious new policy in which coronavirus patients with moderate symptoms will isolate at home instead of in hospitals, as new cases surge in Tokyo to record levels during the Olympic Games. PM Yoshihide Suga's plan, which aims to save hospital beds almost exclusively for those with serious symptoms, is a major policy shift as new cases in the capital have more than tripled since the Olympics began. Opposition as well as some governing party lawmakers and experts charged that the lives of people isolating at home without adequate care would be risky. Health Minister Norihisa Tamura defended the home isolation policy as necessary to prevent a medical collapse. AP

WHO calls for 'moratorium' on Covid vaccine booster shots

GENEVA

THE World Health Organisation on Wednesday called for a "moratorium" on booster shots of the Covid vaccine until at least the end of September, noting with concern the disparity in vaccination levels in low and high-income countries.

WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said at a news conference in Geneva that while high-income countries have now administered almost 100 doses for every 100 people, low-income countries have only been able to administer 1.5 doses for every 100 people, due to lack of supply.

"We need an urgent reversal, from the majority of vaccines going to high-income countries, to the majority going to low-income countries," he said.

"Accordingly, WHO is calling for a moratorium on boosters until at least the end of September, to enable at least 10% of the population of every country to be vaccinated," the WHO chief said.

WHO urged 'everyone with influence' — Olympic athletes, investors, business leaders, faith leaders, and every individual in their own family and community — to support its call for a moratorium on booster shots. PTI

DELTA OUTBREAK: CHINA SEALS CITY

BEIJING

CHINA'S worst coronavirus outbreak since the start of the pandemic a year-and-a-half ago escalated on Wednesday with dozens more cases around the country, the sealing-off of one city and the punishment of its local leaders.

Since that initial outbreak was tamed last year, China's people had lived virtually free of the virus, with extremely strict border controls and local distancing and quarantine measures stamping out scattered, small flareups when they occurred. Now, the country is on high alert as an outbreak of cases connected to the international airport in the eastern city of Nanjing touched at least 17 provinces.

China reported 71 new cases of Covid from local transmission on Wednesday, more than half of them in coastal Jiangsu province, of which Nanjing is the capital.

In Wuhan, the central city where the first cases of Covid were identified in late 2019, mass testing has shown some of its newly reported cases have a high degree of similarity to cases discovered in Jiangsu province.

Those cases have been identified as being caused by the highly transmissible delta variant that was first identified in India. AP

Shelling kills three kids, man in Syria

BEIRUT

SHELLING by Turkish forces and their rebel proxies killed three children and a male relative in northern Syria on Wednesday, a war monitor said, in an attack condemned by Kurdish authorities.

The Britain-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said rockets were fired on a village controlled by Kurdish forces.

"Four members of the same family were killed, including a man and three children," said the war monitor. Others members of the family were wounded and are in critical condition, it added.

Pro-Ankara fighters have been stationed to the north of Ain Issa since Turkish soldiers and their Syrian proxies seized a 120-km stretch of territory along the border. AFP

Crews race to contain fire near Athens after thousands flee

VARIBOBI (GREECE)

FIREFIGHTERS in Greece raced on Wednesday to fully contain a wildfire on the outskirts of Athens that destroyed or seriously damaged dozens of homes overnight, forced thousands to flee, and threatened a former royal palace, as high temperatures fueled wildfires across the country.

Greece is enduring its worst heat wave in decades, with temperatures in parts of the country expected to reach 45 degrees Celsius. The Fire Service took advantage of cooler morning hours to send low-flying helicopters and planes to dump water on charred forest land around Tatoi, 20km north of the capital, where more than 500 firefighters had battled through the night to contain the blaze.

"The ground crews did vital work, (fighting) nightmarish fires in suburban forests," Prime Minister Kyriakos Mitsotakis said, visiting a mobile control center in the area. "We had no death. ... Homes will be rebuilt, and over time the forest will grow back."

Firefighters pumped water from a swimming pool to douse the flames, and water-dropping buckets were attached to helicopters provided by the military. Authorities said more than 100 homes and businesses had been seriously damaged or destroyed, and more than 500 people had spent the night in hotels used as shelters.

Sporadic power outages were reported in areas of the city near the fire, after the flames toppled electricity transmission towers, adding strain to the overloaded national grid.

Evacuations continued on Wednesday on the island of Evia, while a fire threatened homes, and wildfires were also ongoing in the southern Peloponnese region. AP

Forest fires burn for a 7th day in Turkey

Marmaris: Wildfires burned for a seventh day in Turkey's Mediterranean region on Wedneday, prompting the evacuation of at least one more neighborhood. Scorching heat, low humidity and strong winds have fed the fires, which so far have killed eight people and countless animals and destroyed forests. Villagers have had to evacuate their homes and livestock, while tourists have fled in boats and cars. Observers worry that fires in the seaside province of Mugla could jump to two thermal power plants. Flames came within a kilometer of the Kemerkoy thermal power in the district of Milas late on Tuesday before the wind changed direction, helping avert a crisis for the moment. AP

California wildfire grows as heat spikes across state

GREENVILLE

CALIFORNIA'S largest wildfire exploded again after burning for nearly three weeks in remote mountains and officials warned Tuesday that hot, dry weather would increase the risk of new fires across much of the state.

Firefighters saved homes in the small northern California community of Greenville near the Plumas National Forest as strong winds stoked the Dixie Fire, which grew to over 1,024 sq kms across Plumas and Butte counties.

"Engines, crews and heavy equipment shifted from other areas to increase structure protection and direct line construction as the fire moved toward Greenville," the state Department of Forestry and Fire Protection, known as Cal Fire, said Tuesday morning.

Evacuations were ordered for the community of about 1,000 people as well as for the east shore of nearby Lake Almanor, a popular resort area. About 3,000 homes were threatened by the blaze that has destroyed 67 houses and other buildings since breaking out July 14. AP

Push to oust New York Governor gathers pace

ALBANY

NEW York's legislative leaders signalled on Wednesday that Gov. Andrew Cuomo could swiftly face an impeachment trial if he doesn't resign, while a growing number of prosecutors also eyed probe findings that he sexually harassed at least 11 women.

Cuomo denied that he made any inappropriate sexual advances and insisted the findings didn't reflect the facts.

But while political pressure grew, so did the potential for criminal charges against the third-term Democratic governor.

District attorneys in Manhattan, suburban Westchester and Nassau counties and the state capital of Albany said they asked for investigative materials from the inquiry, overseen by state Attorney General Letitia James.

James' investigation found that Cuomo had violated civil laws against sexual harassment. "We are reviewing the deeply disturbing findings," said Joyce A. Smith, the acting district attorney in Long Island's Nassau County. She pledged her office would "thoroughly and expeditiously investigate any potential crimes" that happened there. AP

Mired in crises, Lebanon marks 1 yr since port blast

BEIRUT

BANKS, businesses and government offices were shuttered on Wednesday as Lebanon marks one year since the horrific explosion at the port of Beirut with a national day of mourning.

The grim anniversary comes amid an unprecedented economic and financial meltdown, and a political stalemate that has kept the country without a functioning government for a full year. United in grief and anger, families of the victims and other Lebanese were planning prayers and protests later in the day.

The explosion killed at least 214 people, according to official records, and injured thousands.

It was one of the largest non-nuclear explosions in history ' the result of hundreds of tons of ammonium nitrate igniting after a fire broke out.

A justice symbol monument is seen in front of towering grain silos that were gutted in the massive August 2020 explosion in Beirut on Wednesday | AP

The explosion tore through the city with such force it caused a tremor across the entire country.

It soon emerged in documents that the highly combustible nitrates had been haphazardly stored at a port warehouse alongside other flammable material since 2014, and that multiple high-level officials over the years knew of its presence and did nothing.

A year later, there has been no accountability, and the investigation has yet to answer questions such as who ordered the shipment of the chemicals and why officials ignored repeated internal warnings of their danger.

Dozens were injured Wednesday when Lebanese police clashed with protesters demanding accountability for last year's Beirut port explosion, a short distance from the main event marking the tragedy's first anniversary.

Scuffles in central Beirut broke out between riot police and stone-lobbing protesters, who lit a fire and tried to storm the parliament's headquarters, whose members have been accused of stalling a probe into the disaster. Agencies

SBI profit surges 55% on lower provisions

Net interest income up 3.7% yo-y, other income grows 48%; GNPA climbs to 5.32% in June from 4.98% in March

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JUNE quarter earnings of State Bank of India (SBI), the country's largest lender, had enough reasons to give investors a high even as the bruises of Covid second wave is reflected on its asset quality.

On Monday, the bank reported a record quarterly net profit of ₹6,504 crore in the April-June period, an increase of 55.2% over the year earlier driven by lower provisions for bad loans and rise in other income.

Net interest income, or core income, rose 3.7% year-on-year to ₹27,638 crore. Other income grew 48% to ₹11,803 crore in the three months to June thanks to the ₹1,692 crore worth recovery from the Kingfisher Airlines account. Operating profit rose 5.06% to ₹18,975 cr.

However, the bank did feel the impact of the pandemic that struck in April further impacting individuals' ability to repay. Gross non-performing asset (NPA) ratio stood at 5.32% compared with 4.98% as of March.

Net NPA ratio rose 27 basis points sequentially to 1.77%. The SME (small and medium enterprise) segment is the worst hit with gross NPAs jumping from 7.67% to 9.22% in the reported period despite the moratorium, additional funding under government guarantee and one-time loan restructuring.

The personal loan segment, which includes mortgages as well, saw bad loans increase from 0.80% in the March quarter to 1.28%. However, if one looks at the incremental slippages, the bank reported fresh slippages of ₹15,666 crore during the quarter compared with ₹21,934 crore in the preceding quarter. SME added ₹6,416 crore worth of slippages, while retail loans added ₹5,268 crore slippages, which came largely from the home loan portfolio.

"Around 50% of our home loan book is to non-salaried customers which belong to the SME segment. The slippages are largely because of the disruption in the SME segment," said SBI chairman Dinesh Khara.

The home loan portfolio stood at ₹5.05 lakh crore as on June 30 and saw a 59 basis point (bps) sequential rise in bad loans. The bank, however, was able to gain a 24 bps market share from competitors and saw an 11% year-on-year growth in mortgages.

PNB Housing Fin Q1 net profit slips 5% to ₹243 cr

PNB Housing Finance on Wednesday reported an over 5% decline in its consolidated net profit to ₹243.28 crore for the first quarter ended June 30. The company had posted a net profit of ₹257.18 crore in the year-ago period. On a sequential basis, it was higher than ₹127 crore in the March 2021 quarter. The total income of the company fell to ₹1,692.88 crore in Q1FY22, as against ₹1,872.33 crore in Q1FY21, PNB Housing Finance said in a regulatory filing. On a standalone basis, the net profit during the quarter stood at ₹234.96 crore, compared to ₹259.61 crore a year ago. The total income stood at ₹1,676.45 crore in June 2021 quarter, lower than ₹1,868.58 crore in the year-ago period.

THAILAND

THAILAND APPROVES ADDITIONAL $909 MN STIMULUS

Thailand's cabinet on Tuesday approved an additional $909 million in relief measures for those hit by tougher restrictions to slow the spread of Covid-19 infections, a government spokesman said. On Sunday, the Southeast Asian country extended the curbs for another month and expanded lockdown areas in 29 provinces as it deals with its biggest outbreak to date. The restrictions, including travel curbs, mall closures and curfews, will be expanded to 29 provinces classified as "dark red zone" from 13, Apisamai Srirangsan, spokeswoman for the government's Covid-19 task force, told a televised news briefing. The measures will start on Tuesday for 14 days and will be reviewed on August, 18, she said. The curbs have hit economic activity, and the finance ministry on Thursday slashed its 2021 economic growth forecast to 1.3% from 2.3% seen earlier.

INDONESIA

INDONESIA SET FOR FIRST GDP GROWTH IN FIVE QUARTERS

Indonesia is expected to report this week an economic growth of more than 6% in Q2, but a new wave of Covid-19 cases, which started to hit in June, is clouding the outlook for subsequent quarters, a Reuters poll showed on Tuesday. The median forecast of 22 analysts in the poll was for gross domestic product (GDP) growth of 6.57% in April-June on an annual basis, the first expansion in five quarters. That's also the fastest clip since 2010, albeit less optimistic than the government's projection of 7% and the central bank's estimate of 6.75%. Southeast Asia's biggest economy shrank 2.1% last year, the first contraction since 1998. It was still weakening in Q1, contracting 0.74% year-on-year. Analysts said the rebound forecast for the second quarter was based on a range of positive data, including rising car, motorcycle, and cement sales, record highs in a purchasing managers' index, as well as surging exports. Indonesia does not publish seasonally adjusted data, leaving economists to make their own estimates.

SOUTH KOREA

SOUTH KOREA JULY INFLATION AT NINE-YEAR PEAK

South Korea's consumer inflation accelerated in July, staying at a nine-year peak marked in May, as hot weather conditions lifted prices of fresh food, while oil products and housing rental and other services costs continued rising. The consumer price index (CPI) last month rose 2.6% year-on-year, Statistics Korea data showed on Tuesday, accelerating from a 2.4% increase in June. That was also same as a 2.6% rise in May when it marked the fastest pace since April 2012, and continued to stay above the central bank's 2% target for a fourth straight month. Breakdown of data showed continued rise in prices of agricultural and oil products further boosted inflation, while housing rental costs and dining and other services costs also added to the boost. The cost of agricultural, livestock and fisheries and petroleum products jumped 9.6% and 2.8%, respectively, while that of housing rentals and dining rose 1.4% and 2.5% each. The country struggles to contain the highly contagious Delta variant, even as it stepped up social distancing measures to the toughest level for the Seoul metropolitan and neighbouring areas.

We expect growth to revive from FY22E – we estimate APE growth of 25% for FY22E. However, we remain watchful of the impact of the lockdowns announced in various key states due to the resurgence in Covid cases. SBILIFE continues to maintain its cost leadership, while persistency trends have also improved. We estimate VNB margins to reach ~24% by FY23E.

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

THERE is no dearth of investors when it comes to investing in IPOs (initial public offerings). After the stupendous success of Zomato IPO and huge demand for initial shares of Glenmark Life Sciences (subscribed 44.17 times), four IPOs — Windlas biotech, Devyani international, Krsnaa diagnostics, and Exxaro Tiles — that opened for subscription on Wednesday got fully subscribed within hours.

These IPOs are hitting the market when benchmark indices — the Sensex and the Nifty50 — are at record level and overall sentiment is bullish. After growing by 1.6% on Tuesday, BSE Sensex on Monday added another 546 points to close at 54,369. Nifty50 surged 128 points during Wednesday's session to close at 16,258.

The ₹1,838-crore IPO by Devyani International was subscribed 2.69 times on the first day of the bidding process. The IPO is being sold in the ₹86-90 price band.

Since Devyani, which is India's largest franchisee of international food giants such as KFC, Pizza Hut, and Costa Coffee, is a loss-making firm, analysts are valuing it on metrics such as EV/Ebitda and EV/sales, and most of them have given a subscribe rating on the issue.

"We believe Devyani International would be able to capture the growth owing to metro lifestyle and outside food habits. This, coupled with the company's cost rationalisation initiatives will help drive profitability in future," said ICICI Direct which recommended subscribe to the issue.

Windlas Biotech's ₹401-crore IPO was subscribed 3.15 times on the first day. The three-day offer is in a price range of ₹448-460. But in the grey market, its shares were trading at ₹590 apiece.

"We believe the company is well placed to grab the opportunity arising from the industry given its strong product portfolio, relationship with its customers, R&D capabilities and efficient & quality compliant manufacturing facilities. We have a positive view on the company from the long term perspective,"' Religare Broking said.

The ₹1,213-crore Krsnaa Diagnostics IPO got fully subscribed nearly 2 times on debut. The IPO is being sold in the price band of ₹933-954, with asking valuations at 77 times FY21 earnings per share.

Meanwhile, Exxaro Tiles' ₹162-crore IPO got subscribed by 4.6 times. The price range for the IPO is at ₹118-120. Analysts are divided on this IPO as they feel that India's tiles industy is fragmented with organised section controlled by a few big names. In the grey market it was commanding a premium of ₹20, indicating a healthy listing gain.

Birla steps down from board of Vodafone Idea

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DAYS after offering his stake in Vodafone Idea to the government of India, Kumar Mangalam Birla on Wednesday stepped down as non-executive director and non-executive chairman of the Board of the company.

The Board of Directors of Vodafone Idea Limited, at its meeting held on Wednesday, accepted the request of Kumar Mangalam Birla to step down from the Board with effect from close of business hours on August 4, 2021.

The Board has elected Himanshu Kapania, a non-executive director, as the non-executive Chairman. Kapania is a nominee of the Aditya Birla Group. The Board also has appointed Sushil Agarwal, a nominee of Aditya Birla Group, as additional director (non-executive and non-independent).

Birla in a letter dated June 7 to Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba has said that without the active support of the government, Vodafone Idea was headed towards the point of "irreversible collapse".

Shortage of chip supply hits Maruti's Guj plant

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GLOBAL semi-conductor shortage has hit production at India's largest caremaker facility. Maruti Suzuki (MSIL) on Wednesday informed that owing to the chip shortage situation, the company has been told by its contract manufacturer Suzuki Motor Gujarat Private (SMG), that production will be partially impacted in August.

SMG will tentatively not carry out production on the three Saturdays (7th, 14th and 21st August). In addition, some of the production lines may see temporary reduction from two-shift to one-shift working. "As the situation is dynamic and uncertain, the company will monitor and take a day-to-day decision on models, lines or shifts to optimise resources for maximum efficiency," said MSIL in a regulatory filing.

Semi-conductors are silicon chips that cater to control and memory functions in products ranging from automobiles, computers to cellphones. Following surge in demand for electronic items during the lockdown period, automakers are struggling to secure their quota for this miniscule but important component.

SMG has annual production capacity of 7.5 lakh units and the facility produces popular models such as Baleno, Dzire and Swift. A fall in production of these models will not only impact MSIL's monthly wholesales but may also increase waiting period for buyers.

Japan's Suzuki had established SMG in March 2014. Together with MSIL's capacity of 15 lakh units, Suzuki's production ability in India is around 22.5 lakh units per annum.

Services sector contracts for 3rd month

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S services sector is yet to recover from the aftershocks of second Covid wave, contracting for the third month in a row in July, with fresh job losses for the eighth month in a row.

The Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) stood at 45.4 in the month, marginally better than the 41.2 recorded in June but still in contraction zone. In PMI parlance, index below 50 depicts contraction.

Consumer services were the worst-affected during the month under review, thus depicting that the resumption of contact-sensitive activity is yet to happen. Transport and warehouse were the only sectors to see higher sales in the past month.

Also, as the fear of third wave is looming large, for the first time in a year, services firms had a pessimistic outlook for the coming 12-month period, driven by worries about the Covid-19 pandemic, inflation and profit margins.

"In line with sustained falls in new work, there was a further reduction in service sector jobs during July. Employment contracted for the eighth consecutive month, albeit at a moderate pace that was slower than that seen in June," IHS Markit said in its statement. This is in contrast with the manufacturing sector growth, which witnessed a rebound in July.

RBI gives banks 3 months to meet current a/c norm

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BRINGING some respite for lakhs of affected borrowers whose accounts were frozen in the last few days unilaterally to comply with earlier deadline of July 31, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Wednesday allowed banks three more months' time to implement its new current account rules.

While the RBI has made it clear that it is in no mood to change the proposed rules, the lenders had requested the regulator for some more time to resolve the operational issues for implementing the provisions of the August 2020 circular in letter and spirit. In a notification, the RBI said this extended time can be utilised by banks to engage with their borrowers to arrive at mutually satisfactory resolutions within the ambit of the circular. Such issues which banks are unable to resolve themselves shall be escalated to Indian Banks' Association (IBA) for appropriate guidance, the RBI said. "Residual issues, if any, requiring regulatory consideration shall be flagged by IBA to the Reserve Bank for examination by September 30, 2021," the central bank said.

Under the new guidelines, no bank can open current accounts for customers who have availed credit facilities from the banking system.

Rajya Sabha passes airports regulatory bill

New Delhi: The Parliament on Wednesday passed a bill which seeks to encourage smaller airports to expand air connectivity to relatively remote and far-flung areas. Rajya Sabha passed the Airports Economic Regulatory Authority of India (Amendment) Bill, 2021, after a brief discussion amid protest and sloganeering by the Opposition over various issues. Lok Sabha has already passed the bill on July 29.

RS nod to Bill on bank deposits protection

New Delhi: Rajya Sabha on Wednesday passed a bill that seeks to ensure account holders of banks coming under moratorium will get up to ₹5 lakh within 90 days of imposing the moratorium from the Deposit Insurance and Credit Guarantee Corporation (DICGC). The bill was passed with a voice vote amid uproar by Opposition parties over various issues, including Pegasus snooping row and new farm laws.

CCI okays Carlyle-led deal with PNB Housing Finance

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Competition Commission of India (CCI) has approved the proposed ₹4,000-crore equity investment by Carlyle Group-led investors in PNB Housing Finance even as the Securities and Appellate Tribunal (SAT) is yet to pronounce its judgement on the deal.

On Wednesday, the competition watchdog said that the transaction has been cleared under the green channel facility, as per which, a proposed deal that does not cause substantial adverse effect on competition under the competition law is deemed to be approved, on it being intimated to the regulator.

CCI said it received a notice on the acquisition of equity stake in PNB Housing Finance from the two investors involving Carlyle Group-controlled Pluto Investments S.a.r.l and Salisbury Investments (Aditya Puri's family investment vehicle) acquiring up to 56.29% stake in the mortgage lender.

The development comes at the time when the deal is in limbo with the SAT weighing objections raised by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) to the transaction.

The regulator has asked PNB Housing not to go ahead with the deal until it undertook the valuation of its shares by an independent agency. If the deal goes through, Carlyle will become the majority shareholder replacing PNB as the principal promoter.

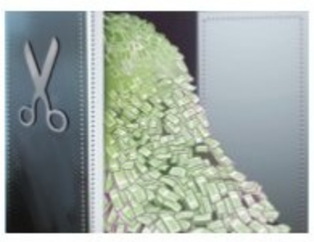
DIRECT TAX COLLECTION JUMPS 112%

SUNITHA NATTI @ Hyderabad

GROSS direct tax collections shot up an unprecedented 112% in Q1, FY22 over the previous year, according to official data.

Even when pitted against the pre-pandemic period, tax collections rose by 48% over Q1, FY20. Direct taxes include corporate taxes, personal income taxes and securities transaction tax (STT).

This is perhaps the fastest growth recorded in decades and also a first in 20 years when 26.7% of the Budget target was met in the first quarter. In the past, despite elevated economic growth rates, first quarter collections never surpassed 18% of the annual Budget target ever.



According to the Ministry of Finance, as on June 15, gross direct taxes (before adjusting for refunds) stood at ₹2.16 lakh crore. This includes corporate taxes at ₹96,923 crore and income taxes (plus STT) at ₹1,19,197 crore. But by June 30, gross direct tax collections touched ₹2,53,097 crore, translating to an average mop-up of ₹2,433 crore per day throughout the fortnight since June 15.

In fact, personal taxes, which overtook corporate tax collections last fiscal -- a first in 12 years -- took a back step in Q1 of current fiscal, though the correction is not huge. As on June 30, corporate tax collections stood at ₹1.23 lakh crore, while personal income taxes (including STT) printed at ₹1.22 lakh crore.

Typically, corporate taxes pick up pace in the second half of the financial year, while personal income taxes hold the fort during the first quarter. For instance, six out of the past 10 years, income taxes were higher than corporate tax collections during Q1. That trend, however, was overturned in the current fiscal with corporate taxes raking in more dough.

Meanwhile, gross tax revenue (direct and indirect) in Q1 stood at ₹5.31 lakh crore, registering a staggering 97% increase over the corresponding period last year. Similarly, the Centre's net tax revenue (after adjusting for state transfers) stood at ₹4.1 lakh crore, translating to an eye-popping 206% increase over last year. Experts believe that if the pace of direct and indirect tax collections continues, the government may well exceed the FY22 tax target of ₹22.2 lakh cr.

BharatPe turns unicorn, value hits $2.85 bn

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

FINTECH firm BharatPe has become the 19th start-up to enter the unicorn club with the latest $350-million fundraise.

The Series E funding round was led by the US investment giant Tiger Global, besides the new investors Dragoneer Investment Group and Steadfast Capital.

BharatPe's valuation has jumped to $2.85 billion from $900 million during the fundraising, earlier this year. The current fundraise also included a $20-million secondary share sale through the employee share buyback programme.

The merchants payment platform has also elevated Suhail Sameer as its Chief Executive Officer, whereas Ashneer Grover, the founder of the company will be the Managing Director.

"We now have $500 millon cash on books and are extremely well-capitalised to deliver on our mandate to build India's first truly digital bank. BharatPe will remain focused on lending as the core business and small merchants as our primary target segment," Grover said.

BharatPe is facing stiff competition from the likes of Paytm, PhonePe , Pinelabs.

Quiet the Games

I did not want silver, I lost the gold, so to me it's failure, so I am not going to celebrate silver at the moment.
– Britain's Ben Whittaker, after losing by split decision against Cuba's Arlen Lopez in men's 81 kg final

ADITI TIED SECOND

Aditi Ashok got off to a brilliant start at the Tokyo Olympics Golf competition, carding a four-under 67 in the opening round on Wednesday. Aditi shared the second place with World No 1 Nelly Korda.

Since the 2008 edition in Beijing, India has returned with at least one medal in wrestling in every Olympics. The trend is set to continue with Ravi Kumar Dahiya assured of a silver medal at the least after reaching the final in the 57kg freestyle category.

With secret weapons in his armoury, freestyle wrestler Ravi storms into final

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

Evolution of a sportsperson is as critical as the game. Especially in contact sport like wrestling. Ravi Dahiya and his team knows it. Ravi qualified for the Olympics way back in 2019 and the time in between was utilised to see add few tricks to his already strong weaponry. Videos of all his potential opponents were dissected meticulously. Three weapons, as his camp describes, were quietly worked out and installed during training. All in secret.

"Going into such events, every wrestler needs to iron out his flaws and add new weapons to his armoury. We worked on three moves that can surprise his opponents and they worked wonders till Wednesday. We ensured he practised those moves without anybody noticing him," Satpal Singh better known as Guru Satpal, head of Chhatrasal Stadium where Ravi has been training since he was 11, told this daily.

Ravi defeated Colombian Oscar Eduardo Tigreros Urbano (13-2) and Georgi Valentinov Vangelov of Bulgaria (14-4) on technical superiority to set up a semifinal clash with Nurislam Sanayev of Kazakhstan. He had beaten Nurislam twice in the past and was leading narrowly after the first period. The Kazakh, however, turned the tables on Ravi in the second as he effectively used leg lace (a move in the game) to roll over the Indian and amass points. He was leading 9-2 at that stage with the clock ticking away. Ravi, however, was unfazed as he first effected a takedown to narrow down the lead and then got the hold of his rival with a double leg attack that resulted in a victory by fall with a few seconds remaining in the bout. "I have beaten Sanayev twice before, so I knew I can pull it off despite trailing by a huge margin. I was assured inside, but I should not have conceded the lead and made it a close fight. That was pretty bad of me," Ravi was quoted as saying after the semifinal. He will face reigning world champion Russian Zavur Uguev in the final. The Russian had defeated him in the 2019 World Championship semifinals.

> I was assured inside, but I should not have conceded the lead and made it a close fight. That was pretty bad of me I was assured inside, but I should not have conceded the lead and made it a close fight.
> Ravi Kumar Dahiya, India freestyle wrestler on semifinal bout

Like the wrestler himself, coach Satpal was also assured despite the huge lead his opponent has taken. "He can fight throughout the day. That's his strength. He never loses his cool and has the stamina to overcome any deficit. The leg lace move was brilliant but the way Ravi pinned the Nurislam down was remarkable," added the coach.

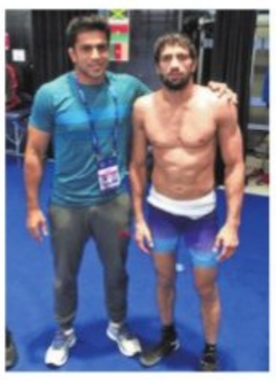
Satpal is optimistic about his ward winning a gold medal and creating history especially with three new weapons in Ravi's armoury. As expected, he will, however, throw light on the new moves only after the gold medal bout is over.

Nahri to Russia, meet Ravi's sparring partner

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

ALMOST 200 wrestlers and coaches were glued to the television in the wrestling hall of Chhatrasal Stadium in New Delhi on Wednesday afternoon. They were all intently watching Ravi Dahiya in action, one of the many wrestlers to have emerged from there in recent years. Among them was Arun Kumar, Ravi's long-time sparring partner. They share an extremely close bond, hailing as they do from Nahri village in Sonepat. Now with the Indian Air Force, Arun competes in 70kg freestyle and even went to Vladikavkaz, Russia, recently as Ravi's sparring partner.

Ravi eventually made his way to the final, but he was trailing 2-9 at one stage in the semifinal against Kazakh wrestler Nurislam Sanayev. Time seemed to be running out in the second and final period. Despite the deficit, neither was Ravi tense, as was revealed by him after the bout, nor was Arun. "He has done that before (overturning the deficit), so we were not worried. We knew it's a matter of one move and he will be back in the game," an elated Arun told this daily from Chhatrasal Stadium.



The 31-year-old Arun informed that they had worked on match simulations and created scenarios where Ravi was down by a huge margin with only a few seconds remaining in the bout. "We do simulations quite often during sparring and create various situations that he will face in the bouts. I am sure this must have helped him to maintain his calm despite trailing."

Ravi, along with Deepak Punia (86kg), was scheduled to train in Russia after participating in the Poland Open in June this year. With the second wave of the coronavirus wreaking havoc across the globe, the duo got stranded in Poland for almost two weeks. They eventually landed in Vladikavkaz to join Bajrang Punia to get some quality training ahead of the Tokyo Games. But something was amiss. The Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) had arranged for local wrestlers of quality for the Indian wrestlers to spar with, but they also needed sparring partners who the wrestlers had trained with for years. The call was made to Arun to head to Russia.

"We reached there in the first week of July and stayed there for almost three weeks to ensure they train properly. I share a good rapport with Ravi and as we have been training for a long period, he is quite comfortable with me. In fact when he first shifted to Chhatrasal, I was the one whom he knew as I hail from the same village" added Arun. Arun is confident that Ravi will bring home gold. On Thursday, Arun will once again witness Ravi's final bout at Chhatrasal Stadium and cheer for his mate just like he has been doing so for years.

Tough draw for Vinesh

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

WRESTLER Vinesh Phogat (53kg) was handed a tough draw on Wednesday. The No. 1 seed in 53kg weight category will open her campaign against Rio Olympics bronze medallist Sofia Magdalena Mattsson of Sweden on Thursday morning. Mattsson was world champion in 2009 apart from being a four-time silver medallist at the event and four-time European champion.

If the 26-year-old Indian grappler wins, she will meet either Belarusian Vanesa Kaladzinskaya, a two-time world champion, or Olympic debutant Andreea Beatrice Ana from Romania in the quarterfinals. The probable opponents in the semifinals will be Russian Olga Khoroshavtseva/Jacarra Gwenisha Winchester from USA/Laura Herin Avila from Cuba/Chinese Pang Qianyu. The first wrestler is 2019 Worlds bronze medallist while Winchester is reigning world champ in 55kg. Chinese wrestler Pang won her second straight bronze in 2019 Worlds. She too has beaten Vinesh in the past.

Deepak, Anshu remains in medal contention

Deepak Punia (86kg) capitalised on a good draw handed to him and made it to the semifinals. He, however, lost the last-4 bout against American David Morris Taylor, the 2018 world champion.

Taylor won the semifinal 10-0 in the first period on technical superiority. It is learnt that a knee injury recurred ahead of the semifinal bout restricting Deepak's movement. He will fight for bronze on Thursday against the winner of the repechage round between Ali Shabanau and Myles Nazem Amine.

Meanwhile, Iryna Kurachkina from Belarus, who defeated India's Anshu Malik in her first bout, reached the 57kg final giving the Indian grappler a chance to compete for bronze via repechage round.

Manika handed show-cause notice

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

MANIKA BATRA'S performance in Tokyo certainly grabbed eyeballs but it was her refusal to allow national coach Soumyadeep Roy to sit in her corner during matches which created an even bigger splash back home. And now, The Table Tennis Federation of India have decided to issue a show-cause notice to the paddler.

This decision was taken during the executive committee meeting on Wednesday. The Khel Ratna awardee will have 10 days to reply and only then will a final decision be taken. "We will issue the notice by Thursday. We took the decision today. What she did there did not please the federation and we await what she has to say on the matter," TTFI secretary Arun Banerjee told this daily.

The 26-year-old's personal coach Sanmay Paranjape had travelled to the Olympics but only the national coach was given the Field of Play access as per protocol. While Manika tried to get Sanmay FOP access through the chef-de-mission, the request was shot down by the organisers due to strict Covid-19 protocols this time around.

"This fact was well-known to her and all paddlers involved. There was no need to do what she finally did. It could have been solved in a better way," another top official added. Soumyadeep is the personal coach of Olympic debutant Sutirtha Mukherjee, a fact that Manika has brought up repeatedly. But Soumyadeep has been part of the coaching team for some time now and is a regular fixture at national camps and international competitions.

Another decision taken during the meeting was that attendance will be compulsory going forward at all national camps. "While safety is of paramount importance, also players cannot just skip camps whenever they feel like.

We always discuss what's best and then only take a call on camps," the secretary added. Prior to the Games, Manika had come for only three days while the others were there for the entire duration of three weeks while G Sathiyan had preferred to train in Chennai under personal coach S Raman.

PV Sindhu after reaching Hyderabad, on Wednesday | S SENBAGAPANDIYAN

'Will train more rigorously'

SUNNY BAKSI @ Hyderabad

AFTER winning two medals in successive Olympics — silver in Rio and bronze in Tokyo, India's ace badminton player PV Sindhu is confident of putting up a better performance in Paris Olympics in 2024 and clinch the elusive gold for India. "I am going to train more rigorously to win a gold in Paris. I will do my best," Sindhu said, after reaching the city on Wednesday.

Sindhu's aspirations to clinch gold in Tokyo was ended by Tai Tzu-Ying in the semifinals. That defeat had been a hard pill to swallow, but she did well to bounce back and return with bronze. "In Rio, there were no expectations. I won silver. But, when Tokyo arrived, there was so much. It seemed to have acted on me," she said.

"When I lost the semifinals, I felt a little disappointed as I couldn't make the entry into finals. However, my coach and physio had stood by me. My parents called me and encouraged me by saying that I have another chance to win a medal," Sindhu said. Having made her chance count, she said that it was a proud moment for her to climb the Olympic podium for the second time. "It was a proud moment to win a medal for the second time in the Olympics and bring it to the country."

In times of pandemic, Sindhu said it was challenging to play without the usual support. "It was a different kind of experience while playing the matches without spectators. It was challenging to participate in the Olympics in the pandemic, but the Japanese government followed all protocols."

De Grasse finally wins 200m gold

Andre de Grasse upstaged Noah Lyles to claim the first men's 200m gold of the post-Usain Bolt era. The 26-year-old Canadian finally came good on the promise he has shown on the track, having won 200m silver and 100m bronze in Rio before laying out his store in Tokyo with a second bronze in Sunday's blue riband track event.

One-two for Kenya in men's 800m

Kenya's Emmanuel Korir won the men's 800 metres Olympic title on Wednesday with compatriot Ferguson Rotich taking silver to put some gloss on their country's disappointing athletics medal haul at this Games. Korir timed 1min 45.06sec with Rotich finishing in 1:45.23 while Poland's Patryk Dobek took the bronze in 1:45.39.

USA crush Australia cagers in last eight

Breanna Stewart scored 23 points as the United States crushed Australia on Wednesday to set up an Olympic women's basketball semifinal against Serbia as they close in on a seventh consecutive title. Brittney Griner added another 15 points and A'ja Wilson 10 in the 79-55 rout against the world's No 2 team.

Medal of honour: Lovlina's dream Tokyo run ends with bronze

Lovlina Borgohain (L) being consoled by BFI president Ajay Singh after she lost her semifinal match against Busenaz Surmeneli of Turkey, in Tokyo, on Wednesday | PTI

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

AFTER having confirmed a medal for herself at the Tokyo Olympics, Lovlina Borgohain (69kg) had declared she was not going to stop there. Lovlina, who had endured difficult times coming into the Games to make headlines, had her eye on the big prize — the much-coveted gold medal. "I don't want to stop at bronze, I want to go for gold," the 23-year-old from Assam had said during a virtual interaction after her quarterfinal bout.

So when she entered the ring for her much-anticipated semifinal bout on Wednesday, it was her chance to live her dreams. However, she was up against a boxer of different class. Turkey's Busenaz Surmeneli has dreams of her own and the reigning world champ was always the favourite going into the bout. Even though Lovlina had a decent start, fending off her much-stronger rival, Busenaz gradually found her rhythm and started asserting herself in the contest. With some strong combination punches towards the end of the round — Lovlina was subjected to standing count (with safety in mind, referees takes call to check if the boxer is alright), Busenaz had done more than enough to be in front.

With just six minutes left to play, Lovlina needed a strong comeback. But Busenaz kept up the intensity level and continued to land some heavy combination punches. Lovlina, to her credit, continued to display courage but it was clear, she was on the backfoot. And with her rival stealing points, taking away her golden dreams, punch by punch, she seemed frustrated. That was evident when she punched Busenaz on the back of her head after the referee had instructed the duo to stop. A point was deducted from her tally for that action.

In the third and final round, there was only one route to final for Lovlina. She had to stop her opponent, which is an improbable task. Instead, it seemed like it was Busenaz who wanted to stop the contest early. With her deadly hooks and pinpoint punches, Busenaz toyed with the Indian and continued to make life difficult for her until the end. Busenaz's dominance reflected on the score (5-0).

"I want to dedicate this medal to everyone in the country. A lot of people prayed for me. My aim was to win a gold medal for the country but I couldn't realize my dreams. But I'm happy to clinch a medal for the country," Lovlina said. "I want to thank to everyone who helped me in my journey so far, all my coaches. Because of my coaches, I could do well in training and perform. I also want to thank BFI and SAI," she added.

Quiet the Gooner

Neeraj tops chart, primed for medal

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

NEERAJ Chopra looked calm. Not easy when the entire nation, nay, the entire javelin world, is focussed on you. Numerous projections and predictions have shown a medal etched against Neeraj's name. The qualification stage itself throws up myriad challenges, from mental to physical. One false step or missed run-up and the spear will drop faster or take a wrong trajectory. Anything is possible.

Rio Olympic silver and bronze medallists, Julius Yego (Kenya) and Keshorn Walcott (Trinidad and Tobago), and Marcin Krukowski (Poland), who had a season's best of 89.55m, all failed to qualify. On Tuesday, Rio Olympics bronze medallist, Tomas Walsh of New Zealand, faced the same predicament when he was struggling in shot put with foul throws (his throws were later reinstated).

On Wednesday, Neeraj would have nothing of that sort. That long mane was chopped but the bandana was wrapped around his forehead. First throw in his inimitable style with a tumble and the spear flew into the daytime sky, crossed the qualification mark before piercing the ground at 86.65m. Yes, enough to qualify and that's the only throw he needed. He was satisfied but not as happy. By his standard (88.07m, a personal best), Wednesday's was an average throw, enough for qualifying but may not be enough to secure a medal. Johannes Vetter managed 85.64m and barely made it to the final.

There is Jakub Vadlejch, whose personal best stands at 89.73m. However, this season he is yet to cross the85m mark. A medal for Neeraj in this field is just a sniffing distance away. His incredible story — from a modest village near Panipat to the history books after his Under-20 Worlds gold — is well known. He always had talent but an injury in 2019 was the worst phase of his fledgling career. Out for a year, the thrower managed to qualify early last year. He left the legendary thrower and coach Uwe Hohn and started training under Klaus Bartonietz, a bio-mechanic specialist. Not an ideal combination but it has worked. Strength is just part of javelin throw. Generating force in your run-up and transferring energy from the body to the hand, the wrist to the spear, it's science and perfected into art by human perseverance and practice.

Like all associations, the one with Bartonietz took time to mature. There were early apprehensions. But as days progressed, especially after the two spent time in Potchefstroom, South Africa, the two started to trust each other. For Bartonietz, he worked on Chopra's spear release. Neeraj changed the javelin to Nordic Vallhala during the Indian Grand Prix 3 and that helped him secure that 88.07m, a national record.

Even weight-training was regularised. Video analysis of all his sessions were broken down and the team started to see results. Manisha Malhotra, sports excellence and scouting head at JSW Sports who worked closely with the Neeraj's team, said both of them were comfortable working with each other now. "It took some time but they have worked out a few things and it's reflecting in his consistency," said Malhotra. "Klaus Indiakeeps him calm."

Shivpal Singh (R) speaks to Pakistan's Arshad Nadeem on Wednesday. Nadeem qualified for the final with a throw of 85.16m

Neeraj's dropping elbow and the finesse of his release were a couple of areas they concentrated on working on. The Athletics Federation of India said they chose Bartonietz partly because of his bio-mechanic background. AFI president Adille Sumariwalla said they felt Bartonietz would be able to help Neeraj. During rehab post an elbow injury in 2019, the two got together. Since then, they have been working closely. "We had to bring in another coach and even Hohn recommended him," he said. "Sometimes you click and sometimes you don't. Neeraj is doing well." India's second thrower Shivpal Singh did not qualify. In the final, Neeraj would be looking to win India's first ever medal in Olympcs.

FALLING SHORT, STANDING TALL

THE WAY THEY PLAYED

SAVITA
Was faultless today and had no chance with both goals. Has been a rock between the sticks, and her performance against Australia (nine saves) will be spoken about for years.

RANI
Creative fulcrum of the side, but she wasn't at her best today. Tried to inspire the side in the final quarter even as the forwards struggled.

DEEP GRACE
Gave away a cheap corner but hard to blame her given her overall contribution. Plays sweeper and distributes play and is very good at it.

GURJIT KAUR
Scored from the first PC but struggled to contain the talents of Albertarrio on India's right. Could have had more help in that channel.

LALREMSIAMI
Is still learning at this level and perhaps hasn't had the kind of impact one would have hoped for. Did struggle to get into the game.

NISHA GOYAL
A player who has enhanced her reputation a lot, with her stickwork catching the eye. Helps that she has been rotated off and on .

VANDANA KATARIYA
A forward who became a household name after her hat-trick against South Africa. Got next to no service on Wednesday.

SALIMA
A workaholic in the middle third, there are several unsung heroes like her. Her constant running is one of the features of this team.

NAVNEET KAUR
Her crucial goal against Ireland gave India this chance. Always looks for the flicks and divertions. Almost pulled off one on Wednesday.

SUSHILA
Extremely influential member and sets the tempo of the side. The gap between her and the forward line was too big to be an influence against Argentina.

NISHA
The same as Salima in that she is a midfield workhorse. Is one of the side's primary playmakers who looks for short passes.

Indian players are dejected after suffering a 1-2 defeat to Argentina in the women's hockey semifinal in Tokyo on Thursday | PTI

UDITA
Where Versatile in that she can play front and back, something multiple coaches likes her because of that aspect. Plays as a defender on the flanks because of her pace.

SHARMILA
Her ability in clutch moments belies her age (second youngest). Has scored in this tournament but didn't excel on Wednesday.

MONIKA
Part of that midfield triumvirate that works their socks off. Doesn't get subbed off too often, but lost that battle like the rest of the midfield.

NIKKI
A vital cog in the defensive wheel, because of her versatility. Was immense against Australia and was dependable again.

NAVJOT
One of the most experienced members in the side, she is a bit of a box-to-box runner. Was largely restricted in her role in the semifinal.

Indian women go down to Argentina in semis, will face Great Britain in bronze medal match

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

WHEN the women's hockey team wakes up on Thursday morning, they will do so with a kind of regret that will be hard to explain. What will hurt them is the fact that they came within the slightest of deviations to possibly take their semifinal against Argentina into a shootout. On top of the D, stood Gurjit Kaur with nine minutes remaining. The injection was perfect, the stopper was good and Gurjit's drive was low, fierce and goal-bound — everything you need in a good penalty corner. But keeper, Maria Succi, was equal to the task and batted the strike away to safety. It was one of the few times India looked like scoring after the first quarter.

For the vast majority of the last 45 minutes, they were trying to stop Las Leonas from finding a way. They retreated too soon rather than try to release pressure. Against Australia, they had pressure-releasing outballs and players made themselves available for short passes. That option was seldom available to them on Wednesday. That meant Argentina, who will face the Netherlands in the final, took control of the midfield battle very early on. The only time they relinquished it was during the fourth quarter when India was desperately seeking an equaliser. That could have come with 17 seconds to go when India appealed for a penalty corner but the video umpire rejected that request. By then, though, the fire was doused.

The fire was burning bright within two minutes. After receiving a pass inside the D from Vandana Katariya, Neha Goyal moved one way before swivelling her hips to move the ball the other way. Moccia Sanchez was caught unawares with the sudden turn in direction and conceded a penalty corner. Just like she did against Australia, Gurjit did the rest. 1-0. The celebrations told its story. Given minimal chance to even get out of the group stages, the improbable was still on. The World No 2 could have responded immediately as they had a penalty corner of their own six minutes later but first rusher Salima Tete got a stick to deflect it behind.

By the beginning of the second quarter itself, the game was beginning to set into an identifiable pattern. Even if the possession stats were more or less equal, Argentina had the ball in more dangerous areas of the pitch, especially down their left flank where No 7 Agustino Albertarrio was out-running India's defenders. Her 4d skills — picking the ball and dribbling — was causing all sorts of problems. India did try and contain her by asking two women to shadow her but it frequently didn't yield the right result. It was no surprise when Argentina, who have won four medals at the Olympics since 2000, earned a penalty corner via Albertarrio. Skipper Noel Barrionuevo, who has more than 160 goals international goals, stepped up to convert.

At half-time, it was evident what needed to be done for India to claw their way back into the contest. Even though it was still 1-1, Argentina was controlling the tempo and had more than the twice the number of circle penetrations. India needed to change their tactics to lessen the gap between their middle third and final third. Katariya and Lalremsiami were hardly in the game and the midfield was being overrun because of the physical nature of the contest. Surely trying to hold out for 30 minutes was going to be too much of an ask.

They didn't heed that warning and let Argentina in again, this time through the right. Deep Grace Ekka allowed the ball to hit her feet inside the D and Barrionuevo put her side in front.

Men face Germany with eye on bronze

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

PERHAPS, just perhaps, India's second dance with hockey is destined to begin like this? Germany stands between them and a first medal in the sport in 41 years. Even casual observers of the sport will know the association between Germany and Indian hockey. Berlin, the 1938 Games, Dhyan Chand, the 8-1 scoreline in the final and all the rest that followed.

What followed was a long period of identity and enough gold to start a small-scale jewellery shop. In the last two decades though, it's only been heart-break, agony, pain and apathy. Now, all that's been replaced by hope and, on the eve of the bronze-medal clash, cautious expectation.

Is the expectation misplaced against a side that has medalled in each of the last four Olympics (two bronze, as many gold)? On a cursory glance, yes. They are loaded with experience, have very dependable penalty-corner specialists and can cut through the opposition backline with a minimum of fuss on their day.

However, this Germany side seems to have some of that x-factor missing that's usually visible during major tournaments. Their form in Tokyo has been very patchy — even if they finished second in their group behind Belgium, they lost to the likes of South Africa. They are usually gun when playing in big tournaments even if they tend to go from one big tournament to another without doing anything of note.

And this isn't the Indian sides of a few years ago when they routinely used to lose the mental battle against elite European sides. This iteration knows they are capable of a) going toe to toe with the business, b) capable of coming back even from a few goals down and c) crucially, have added more goals across their side. For all those positives though, the one big worry is India's propensity to concede penalty corners. They gave away 14 corners to the Red Lions in the semifinals. That's unacceptable at this level and Germany will be eyeing that as a possible route to goal.

Gold for Yosozumi in skateboarding

AP @Tokyo

THE Olympic debut of skateboarding is quickly becoming an all-Japanese affair.

Making it three gold medals from three events, with just one more left to go, Sakura Yosozumi led a Japanese 1-2 in the women's park event on Wednesday, solidifying the host country's dominance in the sport's Olympic debut.

Kokona Hiraki took silver and, at 12 years old, became Japan's youngest ever Olympic medalist. Sky Brown, already a skating superstar at 13, prevented a Japanese medal sweep by taking the bronze, making her the youngest person to win a medal for Britain at the Olympics.

Indian seamers dictate terms on opening day

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

INDIA'S gameplan around the bowling combination in Tests is largely built on the horses for courses policy. Stocked with variety when it comes to both pace and spin, the combination and personnel change depending on the opposition, venue and conditions on offer – the nature of the pitch and overhead conditions. It is almost drilled into every bowler's mind and selection is done accordingly.

At Trent Bridge, India, who went to bed on Tuesday night with 12 names in mind, woke up and took another look at the pitch as well as the forecast before taking a final call. The pitch was dry and if they played two spinners, eyebrows wouldn't have been raised. Instead, they dropped Ravichandran Ashwin. The off-spinner not only happened to be their best bowler in the World Test Championship final, but had also warmed up for the Test series by playing a County fixture for Surrey and picking up seven wickets when the rest of his teammates were enjoying a well-deserved break.

But here India's need, chasing a good start to the five-match Test series, was different. While they showed that they continue to trust even the newcomers in the bowling department by including Shardul Thakur and Mohammed Siraj in the XI, Ashwin's omission was also triggered by India's lack of faith in their batting unit. And understandably so. In two tours to England, the current batting group has struggled to get good totals on the board.

Add the forecast of rain, there was only place for one spinner, and by virtue of his ascending batting skills, Ravindra Jadeja got the nod ahead of Ashwin who has 5 centuries and 11 fifties in Tests. Whether it is a good decision or not, time will tell, but just like 2018, the bowlers continued to give the team the upper hand.

Asked to bowl first, Jasprit Bumrah and Mohammed Shami were on the ball from the word go, with the former removing Rory Burns off the fifth ball of the first over. They hardly gave any easy runs in the first session and maintained sustained pressure. Shami, in particular, was unlucky to not get a wicket in the morning session, as he repeatedly missed the outside edge of Dom Sibley and Zak Crawley, who fell at the stroke of lunch to Siraj.

Just like the morning session, England lost another wicket early after lunch, as Sibley fell to the leg-trap that Indian seamers are using more and more frequently since the Australia tour. With no close-in fielder around, it may not look a threatening line for batsmen, but it is hard to resist the temptation of fetching a few easy runs on the leg-side. It is a bait and even if the ball happens to travel only a short distance in the air, there is a fielder in catching position. For Sibley, KL Rahul was waiting at short-midwicket.

At 66-3, captain Joe Root and Jonny Bairstow tried to rebuild for England and take them to a total that would be just about enough for James Anderson and Stuart Broad to make use of. And throughout their 72-run stand, they looked the part, playing some delightful shots on both sides till the stroke of tea. In reply, India were 21 for no loss in 13 overs at stumps with openers Rohit Sharma and KL Rahul safely negotiating the English bowlers.

WHERE VEHICLE IS HOME

The new normal is now ushering in a new travel culture, that is self-sufficient, safe and more challenging

SANATH PRASAD

BENGALUREANS are now adopting a new travelling culture that focuses more on self-sustenance, adventure, socialising and taking challenges head-on. For this, many city dwellers are converting their vehicles into caravans and overlanding setups and customising them to suit their travel needs.

Travel enthusiasts are also seen converting four-wheelers into minivans and caravans, all by themselves. The concepts of overlanding and caravanning are getting popular among travellers. Overlanding is a concept of travelling to remote places, especially along rough terrains with minimal camping gear. Whereas caravanning is a style of living in the caravan with basic amenities as you drive around places.

Dhruv Dudeja aka Dhruv North has converted a 30-year old post office van into a caravan with sufficient amenities for living. The Bengaluru-based IT-professional bought the van in 2017 from Tamil Nadu.

"I have named the caravan, North. When I bought the van in 2017, it was in a terrible state with a lot of rumbling. It took me nearly a year to convert it into a reliable vehicle," says Dudeja, who plans to drive the caravan across 28 states in the next two years.

It took him three to four years to fabricate the van. The vehicle includes 100 litres of water tank, a solar power system that can last for two days, a pop-top tent, two beds, and a refrigerator. It runs on diesel with a maximum speed of 50 km/hour.

"I am more keen on spending my life in the caravan in the coming days with my family. I am also planning to donate my belongings as I embark on 'van life," says Dudeja, who also created his YouTube channel on van life called First Indian Camper.

Meanwhile, the concept of overlanding, a slightly different format from caravanning, is a trend that is gaining momentum among travellers. Manoj Lad, a city-based IT professional, has converted his gypsy into an overlander.

"I bought the gypsy from an army's wrecking yard in 2015 and converted it into an overlander. It is now equipped with camping accessories like a tent, first-aid kit, and other items," says Lad, who wants to serve the community during his tours. "Adventure comes along with a cause. My mission is to drive to many tier 2 and tier 3 cities and interact with the local community about football and the fitness associated with it," he adds.

Srikantha Padhy, an IT professional and an avid traveller believes that switching to van life or caravanning is a sustainable, budget-friendly and safe travel culture, especially after the pandemic.

With an investment of ₹50,000 in 2018, he converted his minivan into a self-sustained vehicle with a storage system, dual bed setup, lighting and air-coolers. "Since it is a rear-wheel vehicle, driving off-road is an accessible option. However, after the pandemic, I have increased the number of trips in the caravan. I used to check in to homestays earlier. But when hotels were shut during the lockdown and with safety concerns still prevailing, the caravan became more useful, says Padhy who has travelled across South India and parts of the North by staying put in his mini-caravan.

Taking a stand

Actress Ramya recently took to her Instagram stories and called out for the racism that was portrayed in one of the web series. She posted a still from the series to her stories which had a group of friends having dialogues of racial implications. Ramya captioned, "In very poor taste. The North v/s South discrimination and mocking people for their physical appearances has to stop - it's not cool. Grow up. It's 2021. And, Indians talk of racism in other countries - first let's get our act together." The 38-year-old actress has always been vocal about incorrect things and has expressed it through her social media.

Author-turned-actor Sudha Menon, who stars in director Nagesh Kukunoor's latest release, City of Dreams Season 2, shares what made her take that leap of faith in her 50s

REINVENTING AND RELOADING

EXPRESS FEATURES

IN October 2019, just before the pandemic, author Sudha Menon got a chance to feature in her first advertisement film directed by Bengaluru-based director Prakash Verma. But little did she know that it would form the bedrock for her to pursue acting as a serious business. For an author who always writes and explores women-centric subjects, acting was not something natural, she explains.

"I had a secret dream of doing something in the audio-visual journey earlier but I did not expect that I would be pursuing it as a serious business back then. But when the opportunity showed up, I realised that I loved facing the camera. It was a small ad but it boosted my confidence and I realised I loved acting," says Menon who has her writing workshop called Get Writing that helps aspiring writers kickstart their writing journey.

The author has now turned to an actor by essaying a role in the OTT web series titled City of Dreams Season 2, directed by Nagesh Kukunoor. The author took to her social media to also tweet a brief video of her role in the web series. However, the foray into the web series was possible only after breaking the ice with the ad films in 2019, which helped her open up her creative mind.

"Within 10 days of my first ad series, casting calls followed. What keeps me interested in this is that I can be anybody at all that I want to be. But the lockdown due to the pandemic put my plans on hold. Post the lockdown, I got an opportunity in the web series project. Although it was a small part, I am delighted because I worked with a director who I always admired," says Menon who is also the founder of Writing With Women.

Menon also explains that the relentless efforts to do something creative have helped her transition to different works including writing, motivational speaking, modelling, and acting. "I get bored fast and I like doing creative things. The foray into acting is part destiny and part of my willingness to be engaged in creative work all the time. I do want to be stagnant and maintain the same status quo. I am not thinking of playing big roles, even if it is a tiny role I would be delighted," says Menon, the author of Leading Ladies.

By keeping her interest in writing, intact, Menon, who wrote Feisty at Fifty, wishes to explore more opportunities in the audio-visual industry.

"These are baby steps for me. I am loving the new medium [OTT] because it is garnering a huge audience base, especially in recent times. I believe firmly that learning should be a way of life and I keep myself fulfilled bycontinuously reinventing myself," says Menon, who has also shot a cameo for another web series that will be released soon.

Child authors from Bengaluru speak about their books written during the lockdown period

YOUNG BRIGADE

ANIKA GOMEZ

IF we asked you to use your imagination and picture an author of four fantasy novels, what would you see? Would it be an ageing man or a woman hunched over a desk?

We often associate accomplished authors with age and experience. But today, young authors are changing the dynamics of the publishing world.

Fifteen-year-old Rakshan Pandian had the intense desire to write during the lockdown in 2020. His debut novel Chronaethion, a high fantasy novel, is for children of 12 years and above. The book is an immersive, adventure fantasy novel that follows a banished prince, princess and their guardians through a time-distorted land, guided by a mysterious boy.

Jiya Gangadhar

Rakshan, a grade 10 student from Inventure Academy, describes the book as 'magical literature'. "It was all my imagination and was very spontaneous," he says when asked about the creative process behind his writing. A fan Brandon Sanderson and William Shakespeare's work, Rakshan says that his grandfather inspired him to write the book.

Rakshan

Why did he picked fantasy and what were the challenges he faced? "I was able to fully immerse myself in fantasy and use my imagination. The editing process was a little strenuous," he shares.

Rakshan surprised his family with his creative prowess. His mother Rajeshwari says that she was taken aback at first. "Rakshan is an avid reader," she says, adding, "But, when it came to writing, we had to force him to write anything more than a sentence right from kindergarten. This (book) came as a surprise to all of us."

Seven-year-old Jiya Gangadhar, studying at Ekya Schools, JP Nagar, is the author of a children's book L is for Lockdown - Jiya's Journal of Lockdown Lessons.

It's a creative non-fiction piece, transcribed from the diary she kept during the pandemic, where she wrote about the experiences and challenges she faced.

"When the lockdown was announced, we started our online classes. I had a lot of time to spare as I was at home; I started to write all my experiences in a diary. When my book was published and I saw it on Amazon, it was the happiest moment for me," says Jiya.

"We were happy to see a book authored by one of our students. Jiya had imbibed a good habit of writing in her diary and the effort of her mother to recognise her passion for writing is really appreciated," says Sreepriya Unnikrishnan, principal, Ekya School.

Speaking about young authors, Upamanyu Dhar, a literature enthusiast, says, "India has a pool of very talented authors. It is heartening to see young authors make a name for themselves. The world needs more books written by young people."

POTATO 65

INGREDIENTS

- Potato: 4 medium-size or 2 large
- All-purpose flour: 1/4 cup
- Corn flour: 1/2 cup ■ Rice flour: 2 tbsp
- Red chilli powder: 1 tsp
- Food colour: a small pinch
- Chaat masala: 1 tsp
- Salt to taste
- Pepper powder: 1/2 tsp
- Ginger, Garlic: 1 tsp each
- Vegetable oil for deep frying

METHOD

- Wash and boil the potatoes. Peel off the skin and cut into 1/2 inch pieces. Let it cool.
- In a bowl, add all the ingredients for the batter. Add water and mix it well to make a lump-free batter.
- Put a few potatoes in the batter, coat it well. Deep-fry the coated potatoes on a low to medium flame. Before serving, sprinkle chaat masala and lemon juice.

FIT BIT

VAMADEVASANA B

(POSE DEDICATED TO SAGE VAMADEVA B)

In Sanskrit, 'vamadeva' means the blissful deity and is one of the six aspects of Shiva that embodies preservation; and 'asana' means pose. Vamadevasana A and B — with their combination of a spinal twist and a similar grounding effect to lotus pose — stimulate the Sahasrara (crown), Svadisthana (Spleen/Sacral) and Manipura (Root) Chakras. It also makes the hip joints more flexible, and allows a deep stretch for both the gluteus and thigh muscles. This posture is challenging for both the core and balance. It is believed to reduce toxicity in the organs of the lower abdomen.

STEPS

- Come into Pigeon Pose. Then roll towards the hip of the front leg.
- Turning back, hold both ankles.
- Gently bring the soles towards each other at about the hip height.
- If the back hip can extend enough, and knee bent enough to stretch the quadriceps, you may be able to roll back towards the back hip.
- You can turn the head and upper body towards or away from the feet to see how this affects the action of the arms.
- When the position can be held with ease throughout the entire body and the seal, it conveys feelings of the infinite.
- Repeat the procedure to the other side.

BENEFITS

- Helps increase elasticity in your arms, spine, thighs, calf muscles, shoulders and hands.
- Helps stretch and strengthen the muscles and joints in your feet.
- Tones the muscles of the stomach and chest.
- Helps treat urinary disorders.
- Helps relax the mind and release stress.
- Stimulates the nervous system and increases oxygen intake.
- Regular practice improves blood circulation.
- Helps improve the digestive system.
- Useful to reduce the effects of chronic diseases.
- Relieves sciatic pain and makes lungs stronger.

LIMITATIONS

- If you have low or high blood pressure, avoid this pose.
- People who have been affected by insomnia, hypertension and migraine should not practise this pose.
- In case of serious low back or neck injury, avoid this pose.

Untreated urinary tract infection can damage kidneys. Here's how you can recognise symptoms and diagnose UTI in men before the onset of complications

WHAT MEN SHOULD KNOW ABOUT UTI

DR SUDARSHAN S

USUALLY Urinary Tract Infections (UTI) are more common in women than men. This is because the urethra, a thin passage that connects the urinary bladder to the outside, is shorter in women than in men. However, men can also get UTI.

Risk factors

In young men, STDs (Sexually Transmitted Diseases) usually account for the UTI. In older men, prostate enlargement and diabetes are important risk factors for developing UTI. Chronic indwelling urinary catheters in hospice, home-care and hospitalised patients is also one of the risk factors for developing UTI. Depending on the complexity, UTI is divided into upper urinary tract or lower urinary tract infection. Upper urinary tract infections include those in kidneys and ureters; they are usually critical. Lower urinary tract infections include those in the urinary bladder, prostate or urethra.

Symptoms

When infection involves the bladder and/or urethra, symptoms include urinary urgency and increased frequency of urination or burning sensation in penis while urinating. If the infection involves prostate, one may experience similar symptoms and additionally pain after ejaculation, difficulty in passing urine. Upper urinary tract infections include fever, chills, shivering, nausea, vomiting and abdominal or back pain. If not treated early, upper urinary tract infections lead to a serious condition called sepsis, where the infection enters the bloodstream.

Diagnosis

The doctor may run additional tests like urine examination, urine culture and sensitivity of bacteria to antibiotics and in some cases, ultrasound of the abdomen/pelvis. If an STD is suspected, the doctor may run additional tests to identify the bacteria. Most of the STD related urinary tract symptoms are caused due to gonorrhea or chlamydial infections. An upper urinary tract infection may require imaging like an ultrasound or a CT scan for the diagnosis.

Treatment

The choice of antibiotics and method of administration depends on the causative organism and its response to the antibiotics, the location of the infection. Simple lower urinary tract infections like a bladder infection may need antibiotics for upto a week. Acute infections of the prostate usually require treatment with antibiotics for 2 to 4 weeks. Infections of kidneys, if severe, require hospitalisation and treatment with intravenous antibiotics. One may need antibiotics for upto 2 weeks. Surgical intervention may be indicated at times if there's an obstruction to urinary passage and severe infection or pus collection in the kidneys which are refractory to antibiotic therapy.

Why treating UTI early is important

Untreated urinary tract infection involving kidneys can damage kidneys leading to acute kidney failure and/or chronic kidney disease. If the infection enters the bloodstream, it can cause sepsis, shock and even death. Sometimes infections can spread to genital tract as well.

How to prevent UTI

Symptoms related to enlarged prostate have to be treated with the help of medications that can ease the urinary flow. Diabetes should be well controlled. Appropriate use and care of urinary catheters are important. In young males, usage of condoms prevents STDs and its complications. Certain urological procedures need prophylactic antibiotics that prevent infection.

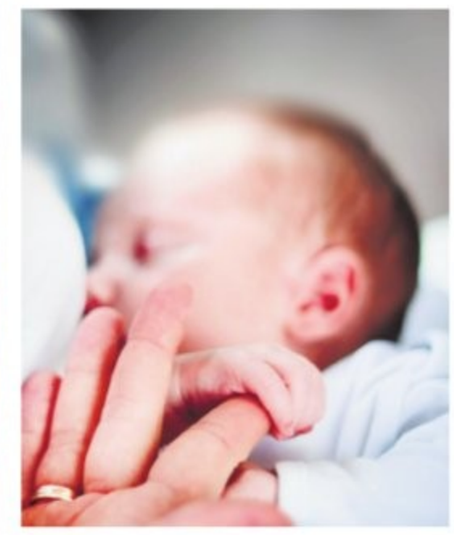
Why breastfeeding is highly recommended during Covid

For infants, the mother's milk contains several antibodies which help in boosting their immune system



DR SUSHANTH SHIVASWAMY & DR SITA RAJAN

COVID should not be a hurdle in providing mother's milk to the infant. With adequate precautions, COVID-19 poses very low risk to new born infant. Current scientific evidence favours ensuring breastfeeding to new born infants even in the setting of COVID-19 infection in the mother.

Breastfeeding benefits during covid

It is possible that breastfeeding could have significant benefit in neonates exposed to Covid. For infants, mother's milk contains several antibodies which boosts the infant's immune system. Although no studies are currently available to prove that mother's milk is directly effective against coronavirus, plenty of studies have previously shown that mother's milk offers significant protection against other viral infections. The mother's body releases several hormones during breastfeeding. These hormones provide relief from depression and anxiety.

Breastfeeding measures during covid

Covid is highly contagious and may result in serious complications. It is thus necessary to protect both the mother and child from contracting the infection. Measures for reducing infection risk are:

1 Wash hands: If any of the family members is sick, the mother must follow all the Covid protocols. She should thoroughly wash her hands with soap or hand sanitiser for 20 seconds before and after breastfeeding.

2 Wear a mask: Always remember to wear a mask while breastfeeding your child. It will reduce the risk of infection as you do not know if you are suffering from asymptomatic Covid.

3 Hygienic measures while pumping breastmilk: If the mother uses a breast pump to express the breastmilk, she should cover her face with the mask and clean the pump. Instruct the caregivers to wash their hands and follow all protocols.

Vaccination & breastfeeding

Vaccination in lactating mothers has been demonstrated to be effective for Covid prevention and is safe for the infant. Currently available vaccines in India, Covishield, Covaxin and Sputnik, can safely be administered to lactating mothers.

The mother should take hygienic precautions while breast feeding

Keep the baby at a distance of 6 feet after feeding as much as possible and continue to wear a mask while being in the same room as the baby

If the mother chooses to room out the baby to reduce any small risks of transmission or if the mother is too sick to care for the baby, the baby can be roomed out while being taken care of by a Covid negative caregiver. The mother can still pump her milk either manually or with a breast pump. The above precautions like handwashing and masking should also be taken care of prior to pumping.

Habits that are ruining YOUR HEALTH

DR NITI KRISHNA RAIZADA

YOU cannot change your future; but you can change your habits, and surely your habits will change your future," said Dr Abdul Kalam, former President of India. So, what are these chains of habits which grow on us quite unknowingly and become too heavy to be broken?

1 Bad Sleeping habits: An adult needs 6 to 8 hours of good quality of sleep every night. Sleep deprivation leads to deranged cognitive issues like mood changes, irritability, difficulty in focusing and memory issues. It also leads to obesity, diabetes, and heart disease. Be aware that the disruption of the biological circadian clock increases the odds of developing cancers of the breast, ovaries, prostate and colon. Develop good habit of sleeping adequate hours by keeping away your phone, learn the art of meditation, and seek the help of numerous apps which teach you breathing techniques.

2 Tobacco: The permissible level of tobacco is exactly 'zero'. Hence one has to strictly stay off smoking, chewing tobacco, or consuming it in any other form like snuff, hookah. Identify your smoking triggers and work on them to cut off your craving. Seek professional help, there are specialists who will help you through de-addiction through medication, apart from counselling and a viable action plan.

3 Bad eating habits: This is probably the most abused habit amongst all and majority of us are guilty of. Eating too much processed food, binge eating, irregular eating patterns, mid night snacking, excessive calorie intake, and the like. Apart from causing all the systemic diseases like obesity, diabetes, hypertension and heart disease, they also lead to increasing risk for many cancers. Ensure that the diet has adequate fibre content, low on red meat if non vegetarian, cut that sugar off and consume 2-3 litres of water every day if you are otherwise healthy.

4 Kick the drinking habit: Alcohol is second only to tobacco as the leading causes of addiction. While it is known that drinking in moderation is not harmful, the truth is, once in the path of regularly consuming alcohol no matter what the frequency is, one gets onto the slippery slope of consuming enough which causes harm. The liver takes the brunt of the damage from alcohol and multi system disease and prediction to cancer.

5 The couch potato habit: We live sedentary lives, have desk jobs, and then again spend time in front of the TV or gadgets. A useful rule is that every wakeful hour one should have at least a 5 -10 min break off from the desk and move around. Another rule would be to be off all devices for one to two hours every day and be out door. Breathe in the air, the nature and sweat it out. Your body will thank you for it, more so in the advancing years.

Bad habits are easy to fall prey to and one always feels that it's easy to snap out of it. We fix a future date to start good practices. But these are heavy chains you've bound yourself to and not easy to break away. Start right away. This is your body, your life and your responsibility to yourself.

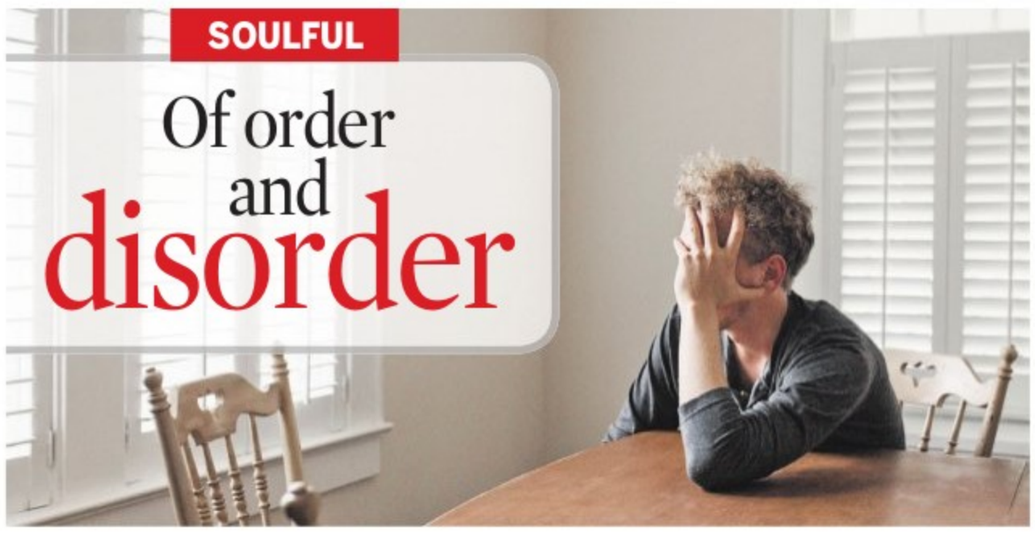
SOULFUL

Of order and disorder



WHAT is disorder? What is the nature and the structure of disorder? There is disorder, isn't there, where there is contradiction: say one thing and do something totally different; think one thing and act quite the opposite. I wonder if one is aware of that. Then there is conflict, disorder, when we are pursuing ideals, whether political ideals, religious ideals or our own projection of what we think we ought to be. That is, where there is division between what is actually going on and try to change that according to a certain pattern, certain ideals, certain attitude and convictions. That is, where there is division between actually what is happening in ourselves and neglecting that and pursuing an ideal, that is one of the causes of disorder. Another cause is to pursue in psychological, so-called inward life, pursue authority: the authority of a book, the authority of a guru, the authority of so-called spiritual people. We accept very easily the authority in our inward life. Of course you have to accept the authority of the scientist, of the technocrat, of the doctor, the surgeon, but inwardly, psychologically, why do we accept authority at all?

This is an important question to ask. We are asking what are the causes of disorder. We said pursuing an ideal is disorder, accepting authority of another in the world of spirit, in the world of the mind, inward psychological state. And one of the other causes of disorder is this everlasting attempt to become something, inwardly. So perhaps, these and other causes bring about disorder. So we are going to investigate each one of them.

Why do we have ideals at all? There are the political ideals, and in the communist world the theoretician translating Marx or Lenin according to their inclination, their study, their historical search. So we are asking - and I hope you are asking too - why do we have ideals at all? And what is an ideal? The word 'idea', originally the root meaning of that word is 'to observe', 'to see', 'to look' - the word 'idea'. But we have translated it as a projection of a particular concept brought about by thought, and that is the ideal, and the ideal is far more important and the pursuit of that ideal becomes all-consuming when you totally neglect 'what is'; 'what is' is important, not the ideal. We are using the word 'what is' in the sense what is actually happening both outwardly and inwardly.

When we are violent, as most human beings are, to have an ideal of non-violence has no reality, has no validity, but what has validity, reality is the fact that we are violent and to deal with that violence, not in terms of ideals and patterns but to understand the cause or causes of violence. Perhaps in this country the pursuit of non-violence, which is an illusion, has deprived of our energy to look actually at what is going on. I hope we are talking over together this problem. We never look 'what is'. We want to change what is taking place to something else. This has been the process of centuries upon centuries. The political ideals, the religious ideals, the ideals that one has created for oneself, an end, a goal, and the goal, the end - the ideals become extraordinarily important and not what is actually happening. That is, 'what is' being transformed into 'what should be'. There is the struggle, there is disorder. Whereas if we understand, give our attention to 'what is'; that is, 'what is' is violence, hatred, antagonism, brutality, and to deal with it.

SHIVARAJKUMAR'S BAIRAGEE IN TAILEND OF ITS SHOOT

The makers of Bairagee, starring Shivarajkumar, Dhananjay, and Pruthvi Ambaar, are now left with only two songs to shoot

CE FEATURES

THE makers of Shivarajkumar's Bairagee are left only with two songs to wrap up the entire shoot of Vijay Milton's debut Kannada directorial venture. The production house announced that the shoot is coming to a close soon with a picture of Shivarajkumar and Dhananjay. There is a lot of expectations about the film as the duo struck gold with director Suri's Tagaru, and fans are hoping that two Kannada stars would pull off another hit.

The film also stars Anjali in the lead female role. She is paired opposite Shivanna for the first time. Bairagee also stars Pruthvi Ambaar, Yasho Shivakumar, Umashree, and Shashikumar.

Meanwhile, Krishna Sarthak, the producer, is already hopeful about the project as it is making all the right noise on social media. "Shivanna's look from the film was met with a good response. Similarly, the background score from the recently-released teaser of the film has turned out to be hit with many fans setting it as their caller tunes," says Krishna.

The team will soon shoot the remaining two songs for the film. The makers have planned to build a huge set for a number. "The hero introduction song will be shot grandly, and we are planning to erect a set for the same. We are planning to rope in a large number of artists and technicians to shoot the song. However, it all depends on the weather and covid situation. If everything goes as per plan, we will wrap up the shoot by August-end or by September," says the producer.

Meanwhile, Shivarajkumar is looking forward to the release of Bajarangi 2. Post its release, the actor will be joining the sets of his 124th film, which will be directed by debutant Ram Dhulipidi. The film is set to go on floors this month.

SARATHKUMAR TO PLAY ANTAGONIST IN PUNEETH RAJKUMAR'S JAMES

The popular Tamil actor will be joining the sets of Chethan Kumar's directorial venture today

A SHARADHAA

VETERAN Tamil actor Sarath Kumar is all set for his next Kannada film. The actor is roped in for Puneeth Rajkumar's upcoming film James. Interestingly, Chethan Kumar's directorial venture will feature Sarath Kumar in a negative shade and taking on Puneeth. This marks his first Kannada film as a villain, and according to the makers, the senior actor will feature in an aggressive characterisation. The actor will be joining the sets of James today and he will be seen along with Telugu star Srikanth Mekka, Adhitya, Anu Prabhakar, Ranagayana Raghu, and Mukesh Rishi.

Bankrolled by Kishore Pathikonda, the film has Priya Anand as the female lead. Priya and Sarathkumar have earlier worked with Puneeth in Raajakumara (2017), and James marks the trio's second collaboration.

The film has a strong technical crew with Charan Raj as the composer and J Swamy as cinematographer. On the other hand, Santhe Haiklu is handling the art direction.

The film left with 30 per cent of the portions resumed work from July 5 after the government eased the restrictions, and the crew kickstarted the shoot with a fight sequence choreographed by the Ram-Lakshman duo.

Puneeth Rajkumar, post-James, will begin shooting for Pawan Kumar Dvitva, which will go on floors in September.

Padavi Poorva fourth shooting schedule resumes

Hariprasad Jayanna's directorial debut, starring Prithvi Shamananur and Anjali Anish, resumed in Bengaluru recently

CE FEATURES

MAKERS of Padavi Poorva began the fourth shooting schedule on August 2 in Bengaluru. A few talkie portions of Hariprasad Jayanna's directorial debut will be shot in the coming days. The team is currently shooting the film in a college and indoor shared some pictures from the sets with CE. Debutant actor Prithvi Shamanur, Anjali Anish, and the rest of the cast have joined the sets. Padavi Poorva is set in the 90s and also features Yasho Shivakumar, who is making her debut as the lead in the film. After the Bengaluru schedule, the crew will be shifting to Mangaluru where the fifth and final schedule of the film will be shot. Meanwhile, Hariprasad is also working with the film's composer Arjun Janya to bring out the songs in September. Padavi Poorva is bankrolled by Yogaraj Bhat and Ravi Shamanur and has cinematography by Santhosh Rai Pathaje.
